VOTERS HIT THE COLONEL THROUGH COLONEL'S MAN

The Colonel's Friends Lost All Along the Line and the Colonel's Home Precinct Gave a Majority for Dix, Colonel Was "Beaten to a Frazzle."

New York, November 8.—John A. Dix, a business man and the first democratic nominee elected in sixteen years, will be the next governor of New York. He was chosen by the people today over Henry L. Stimson, republican, for whom Theodore Roosevelt stumped the state, by a plurality, based on nearaly complete returns, from 55,000 to 65,000. New York city gave him a plurality of more than 100,000, while Stimson came down to the Bronx with about 40,000, leaving a substantial lead for the democratic nominee.

IT LOOKS KERN OVER BEVERIDGE

Democrats Are on Top in Hoosier State.

Indianapolis, Ind., November 8.—While the early returns indicate tonight that the democrats will elect their state ticket, yet the race is so close that the result is doubtful. Six hundred precincts out of 3,836 give Ellingham (democrat), candidate for secretary of state, 65,687, and Gulley (republican) 65,650.

The democratic leaders are claiming the legislature and returns from the larger cities show that they have made gains. They made a clean sweep in Marion county (Indianapolis), electing the entire legislative ticket. Vanderburg county (Evansville) is also carried by the democrats, where they gained three members of the legislature.

It is not improbable that eleven of the thirteen congressmen from this state will be democratic.

Stokes Jackson, chairman of the democratic state committee, at 1 o'clock this morning declared that the legislature would be democratic on joint ballot by at least thirty, that the democratic state ticket was elected by thirty thousand and that the entire Indiana delegation in congress would be democratic.

John W. Kern, who was indorsed by the United States senate by the democratic state convention, feels sure that the legislature will be democratic and in a statement says:

"God bless old Indiana and her splendid people. It looks like a splendid victory all along the line. Many republicans rallied to our standard and not only made the victory complete, but, as it looks now, overwhelming. I am deeply grateful to all the people of all parts of the state for their generous and loyal support.

The republican leaders gave out no statement and neither did Senator Beveridge have anything to say as to the outcome. The democrats seem to have carried eleven of the thirteen congressional districts and it is probable that Congressman Crumpacker, of the tenth, and Congressman Barnard, of the sixth, are defeated, although their friends would not admit it.

THE CYCLONE!

CONGRESS FALLS INTO THE GRIP OF DEMOCRATS

Enough Seats Gained From the Republicans to Assure Control of House.

40 SEATS IN CONGRESS GAINED BY DEMOCRATS

Chicago, November 8.—Democrats have gained forty seats in the national house of representatives, assuring them not only control, but also a substantial majority. The democratic gross gain, however, is reduceed to a net gain of 37 by three republican gains. Assuming the party will retain its representation in states not yet heard from, it is apparent the democrats will have thirteen members in excess of the twenty-four which were necessary to give them control.

Chicago, November 8.—That the next house of representatives will be controlled by the democrats was indicated by the returns received up to midnight. The democrats gained from the republicans seats in congress in eight states. In New York seven republican seats were won by the democrats. In Maryland, Massachusetts and North Carolina each the republicans lost two seats.

Losses were definitely known to have been sustained also in Illinois,

COUNTRY SWEPT BY TIDAL WAVE OF DEMOCRACY

Political Convulsion Similar in Many Respects to the Upheaval of 1882.

BIG STATES TAKE PLACE IN DEMOCRATIC COLUMN

Democratic Governors Are Chosen by Ohio, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Probably Iowa—Great Legislative Gains Are Made by Democrats.

Elections held throughout the country yesterday resulted in a political convulsion of far-reaching extent, similar at many points to the famous tidal wave of 1882 and apparently more widespread in its effect.

The indications at 10 o'clock were that the national house of representatives had been carried by the democrats, reversing the present republican majority of 43.

The United States senate will probably have a reduced republican majority as a result of legislative elections held in many states.

Democrats Get Many Governors.

In New York state John A. Dix, democratic candidate for governor, is elected over Henry L. Stimson, republican, by a plurality of about 55,000, reversing the republican plurality of 70,000 in 1908 for Governor Hughes.

In New Jersey Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for governor, is elected over Vivian M. Lewis, republican, by about 15,000 plurality, reversing the previous republican plurality of 8,000 for Governor Fort.

In Massachusetts Eugene N. Foss, democratic candidate, has defeated Governor Eben S. Draper, republican candidate for re-election, by about 30,000 plurality, reversing Governor Draper's former plurality of 8,000.

In Connecticut Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, democratic candidate, is elected governor over Charles A. Goodwin, republican, by about 4,000

Judge Broyles will now serve a term of four years, as the law was changed

TRIBBLE WINS FROM HOWARD

Result in Eighth in Nature of Landslide.

Athens, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) After the bitterest fight ever conducted in this district in a congressional election Samuel J. Tribble has won out over the incumbent congressman, William J. Howard, by 2,410 majority. He carried nine of the twelve counties in the district, losing his home county, however.

Both were candidates in the democratic primary of August 23 and a difference of four votes in Elbert county caused a contest. The majority falling first on one side and then the other, both filed contests.

Tribble's contest was withdrawn. The district executive committee decided the contest filed with them by Howard in favor of Howard. Mr. Tribble's friends did not recognize this action and named another committee, which declared Mr. Tribble the regular democratic nominee.

The counties carried by Congressman Howard with the majorities are: Clarke, 318, Morgan, 1; Oglethorpe, 511. The counties for Tribble with his majorities are: Putnam, 121; Jasper, 205; Hart, 687, Wilkes, 67; Oconee, 405; Elbert, 550; Franklin, 575; Greene, 150; Madison, 480.

Tribble's majority is 2,410.

T. W .HARDWICK WINS BY FOUR TO ONE

Augusta, Ga., November 8.—Thomas W. Hardwick, incumbent, was re-elected to congress, as the regular nominee of the democratic party, over C. E. McGregor, democratic insurgent, by a majority of approximately 2,800, in a total vote of little over 3,500. The vote all over the district was light. Richmond county gave Hardwick 1,183 and McGregor 72.

Hardwick carried Columbia county by 250 majority Hancock by 250, Taliaferro by two to one, Wilkinson practically solid, Lincoln by 75, McDuffie by 159.

The only county carried by Major McGregor was Glascock, in which he received a majority of 35.

C. E. McGregor was the candidate of Thomas E. Watson, who was nominated by the populist party for the presidency, and made the campaign againt Roosevelt, but who lately declared he "had returned to the democratic party."

SEVENTH DISTRICT GOES SOLID FOR GORDON LEE

Rome, Ga., November 8.—At 8:30 o'clock returns indicate the re-election of Gordon Lee, democrat, over Walter Akerman, republican, by a majority of 2,000. Lee carried Floyd by 800, Whitfield by 400, Murray by 165, and Chattooga by 300, Dade by 200, Bartow, Akerman's home county, by 100, Gordon by four to one, Haralson by 100, Paulding by three to one, Whitfield by 400, Cobb by 600, Polk by 415.

Akerman developed unexpected strength in Bartow, and Lee's majority will be less than 100. Mountain counties, where Akerman is strongest, have not yet been heard from.

Returns from nine out of seventeen election precincts in Floyd county give Lee 786, and Akerman 64. Complete returns will show Lee's majority to be about 900 in this county.

HOOPER WINS IN TENNESSEE

Bob Taylor Is Beaten by Republican.

Nashville, Tenn., November 8.—Summed up, the result of today's election appears to be B. W. Hooper, republican and fusionist, governor, by 15,000 to 18,000 majority; B. A. Enloe, democrat and fusionist, by a like majority, and a possible small fusion majority in the legislature. Both sides claim the senate, but where the fusionists have lost in some districts, they have gained in others. The same applies to the democrats, so from present indications there is little change in the complexion of the legislature.

Most of the middle and west Tennessee democratic counties, nearly all of which went for the independent judiciary ticket in August last, returned to the regular column today, but by such small majorities that they were overwhelmed by the heavy republican vote in East Tennessee counties. Barring Knox, the counties in which are located the larger cities, all went heavily democratic.

In the congressional races, R. V. Austin, republican, appears to have defeated N. W. Hale, independent republican. Sells, republican, defeated Cy H. Lyle, in the first. Z. D. Massey, republican, was elected to fill out the unexpired term of W. P. Brownlow. In the other eight districts the democrats have won, although T. W. Sims, in the eighth, had a hard fight with Murray, republican.

The vote throughout the state was remarkably heavy, except in a few counties.

Hooper's Election Conceded.

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 8.—At 11 o'clock The Times concedes the election of Captain B. W. Hooper, republican, by from 15,000 to 20,000 majority over Senator R. L. Taylor for governor.

Returns indicate that both houses of the legislature will remain democratic.

FIVE CONGRESSMEN CHOSEN BY THE MARYLAND DEMOCRATS

Baltimore, Md., November 8.—Though the returns are still incomplete, sufficient is known at 10:30 p. m. to assure the election to congress of J. Henry Covington in the first district; J. F. C. Talbott in the second, and David J. Lewis in the sixth. All these are democrats. Democratic estimators claim the fifth district is in doubt. Granting this to the republicans, the Maryland delegation in the next house will be five democrats and one republican. In this city proposals for four large loans for local improvements carried.

BERGER, SOCIAL DEMOCRAT, IS ELECTED TO CONGRESS

Milwaukee, November 8.—Republican committee concedes election of Victor L. Berger, social democrat, to congress in the fifth district.

MAJORITY PLAN ROUGHLY JOLTED

Second Primaries Laid Away With Camphor Balls.

The voters of Atlanta declared against a second primary or the majority plan in yesterday's primary by a majority of 1,234. The total vote polled was 7,762. The total vote for the plurality plan, or against a second primary, was 3,754; and for the majority plan, or for a second primary, 2,521. This shows that 1,488 voters did not vote on the proposition at all or scratched both measures.

The vote on the second primary by wards was as follows:

First Ward—Against a second primary, 239; for, 209.

Second Ward—Against second primary, 732; for, 477.

Ninth Ward—Against second primary, 245; for, 147.

At the request of several citizens, the city executive committee decided to let the people vote on the second primary plan and, as shown by the results in Tuesday's election, they have declared against the holding of more than one primary.

This means that the city executive committee will recommend to the city council that the special state legislative act, so far as Atlanta is concerned, be repealed that specifies that primaries in cities of over 50,000 population be held under the majority rule. The act was passed for Atlanta and other Georgia cities.

HARMON MAKES SWEEP IN OHIO

Democrat Is Again Sustained by His State.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 8.—Dilatory returns tonight indicated that Governor Judson Harmon, democrat, has made a clean sweep of the state, defeating Warren G. Harding, republican, and that his plurality will approximate 50,000 votes. With him he has carried at least two and possibly more democratic congressional candidates in districts that have heretofore elected republicans. Ohio will send at least ten and possibly twelve democrats to congress out of the twenty-one in the delegation, instead of eight, as at present.

Legislature May Be Democratic.

Scattering returns show a heavy democratic gain in the legislature, and without definite figures, democratic leaders are claiming a majority of their party in the next legislature, which will elect a successor to Charles Dick, the republican senior senator.

In Cuyahoga county, which includes Cleveland, Harmon has increased his plurality of two years ago to 12,000 votes, according to careful estimates. In Hamilton county, which includes Cincinnati, Harmon's 1908 plurality of 18,936 will be considerably reduced, but reports say that he will retain a margin of 10,000 votes over Harding.

The country districts, counted upon by the republicans to offset the expected Harmon vote in Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati, increased Harmon's plurality in democratic counties, and in many cases turned republican pluralities into democratic pluralities.

Congressmen Beaten.

Albert Douglas, republican congressman from the eleventh district, and James Joyce, republican congressman from the fifteenth, were defeated. Late returns from Cleveland precincts showed Congressman James H. Cassidy, republican, losing heavily in the twenty-first district, and apparently defeated by R. J. Bulkeley, democrat.

The candidates on the state ticket below the governor are in doubt. In the majority of the republican counties, Harmon ran far ahead of his ticket and there is still a chance for a repetition of the condition of two and four years ago when the republicans elected a majority of the state officers, while losing the governorship.

It is possible, though not certain, election of a democratic majority on joint session of the legislature brings into prominence the names of Alex Pomerene, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor; Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, and Newton D. Baker, city solicitor of Cleveland, as possible successors to Senator Dick.

Cox Goes to Congress.

Dayton, Ohio, November 8.—James M. Cox, democrat, is elected to congress over George R. Yong, republican, in the third district, by anywhere from 7,000 to 8,000. For the first time in 35 years Mr. Cox, as a democrat, has carried the soldiers' home by over 200 majority. This institution complete with the exception of two precincts, gives Cox, democrat, 1,053; Young, republican, 853.

WOODROW WILSON AND A SENATOR

Gained by Democrats of Jersey State.

Trenton, N. J., November 8.—The latest returns from the state received at the office of the secretary of state would seem to indicate that Woodrow Wilson's plurality for governor will be between 10,000 and 20,000.

The latest returns indicate that the democrats will have the legislature on joint ballot, and will thus be enabled to elect a democrat to the United States senate to succeed John Kean.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

WRITTEN BY

WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

A. W. GREEN, president of the NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY, believes that NESWPAPER ADVERTISING is the BEST ALL-ROUND FORM OF PUBLICITY, although he says that bill boards and magazines are also good.

He ought to know. HE HAS SPENT ENOUGH MONEY TO FIND OUT.

Last winter Mr. Green, who is always on the alert to do the unusual, authorized the insertion of an advertisement in the center of a live news page in several hundred newspapers.

Some publishers objected to printing it in that form, but enough of them took it finally to make the advertising get world-wide notice.

It was sure enough UNUSUAL, and it cost a lot of money because in many newspapers Mr. Green authorized buying the whole page, just so his small advertisement would get the position he wanted.

Nobody could pick up the newspapers in which the advertisements (there was a series of them) appeared without being compelled to read them, and

You don't have to be told that gold is better than brass; that diamonds are better than rhinestones; that ermine is better than hare.

You don't have to be told that Oriental Rugs are better than domestic Rugs. The statement is bromidic. The fact is obvious, clear, staring, glaring.

There isn't any basis on which to institute a comparison between the beauty and durability of the two products. Like pitting a vulgar chromo against a vivid Titian.

It's the superiority of slow, sure handwork and pure, fadeless vegetable dyes against high-speed power-looms and fading aniline dyes.

About thirty years ago Frank Macpherson, a happy-go-lucky Scotch artist, drifted to Rome in search of inspiration. He hoped to become a great painter. He married and became a photographer. His bride was the cultured niece of Mrs. Jameson—one of the most eminent art critics of her day. Macpherson became a universal favorite in the most exclusive circles of Roman society. His home was the rendezvous for poets, authors, sculptors, painters, reconteurs, bon vivants and members of the English and French nobility who lingered in the Imperial City. One day while browsing through a musty curio shop, Macpherson saw an old picture so smeared with dirt and dust that the subject was unrecognizable. But his artistic eye caught traces of brush-work not discernible to others. After considerable haggling he bought it from the dealer for $6.00. The seller chuckled over a sale that gave him $6.00 for a nameless, trashy canvas.

When cleaned—it revealed a volume of lymphatic, sanguine and voracious flesh—a flock of dimpled cherubs and merry cupids—a priceless Rubens—now one of the unpurchaseable treasures of the Royal Academy at London.

Macpherson's son is art director in the advertising department of a popular New York dry goods store.

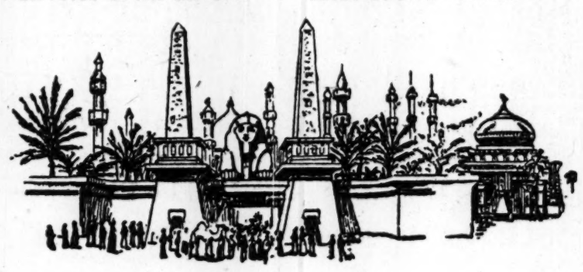
The foregoing story has been told merely to show that neither grime nor slime can destroy the value of real art. Nearly all the splendid art trophies of past centuries have been redeemed from earth and ashes. Winged Victory, keeping watch and ward in the Gallery of the Louvre, is a massive illustration of that truth.

Constantinople and Tabriz are the world's market places for Oriental Rugs. They are usually sold in bales. When the burlaps are cut the Rugs roll out, and they are generally very much soiled. When scoured, their soft, silky sheen is fully restored, and you see the richest and finest textile art in the whole world.

There are few really great ANTIQUE Oriental Rugs in Turkey and Asia today—one must go to the museums of London, Berlin, Vienna and to private collections to find the superb specimens of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century Persians and the wonderful ancient Asia Minor pieces.

MODERN Oriental Rugs are commonly understood to be the ones practically made for the market. Exactly the same methods are employed in making the modern as the antique. Both are made entirely by hand and nothing but the best vegetable dyes are used.

Our stock is composed wholly of the latter. They are constructed knot by knot; slowly, patiently, skillfully and laboriously. The life of the fabric is not for a few years—but for generations. Therefore the utmost care is taken in preparing the wool and dyes. In some districts the sheep are kept wrapped in blankets and housed in order that the wool may be of the finest and most delicate texture.



The colors chiefly used are what have been called the PERFECT SEVEN: indigo, porcelain blue, green, yellow, orange, crimson and rose red. The dye ingredients for these colors are obtained from vegetable matter, and for ages the processes of the preparation have been guarded with the most jealous care—the secret being handed down from generation to generation. Unlike aniline dyes, which retain their brilliance for only a limited time, the vegetable dyes produce pure, perfect shades which not only endure for hundreds of years, but actually improve with age and wear, taking on indescribable lustre and mellowness as time passes.

Moderns, as well as antiques, bear the imprint of human labor, and mutely tell of months of earnest, serious toil. Sometimes years are consumed in weaving a single Rug—and usually not for the money it commands when completed—but purely as a work of love. They are made as special gifts for celebrated personages, or to priests, and as wedding presents for relatives by whom they are treasured and handed down as heirlooms from generation to generation.

Within recent years customs have changed somewhat, and on this account we have what are termed ANTIQUE and MODERN Rugs. One differs from the other only in name. Naturally, to justify the use of the word "ANTIQUE," the Rug should be very old; for to attain the subdued harmony which marks its beauty, it must needs be subjected to many years of exposure to the sun and dust.

Rarely do Oriental weavers copy from set designs. They depend upon their own taste, imagination, judgment and an inherited instinct for patterns and colors. In spite of the changes that have taken place in Oriental customs, the art of Rug-making remains practically the same. If there are colors, sheens and tonal beauties in some of the antiques that are impossible of reproduction today, it is because in the oral transmission from father to son of the secrets there has been forgetfulness and a lost art has resulted. It is known that the dyes used to produce some of the exquisite tints in antiques cannot be made. But whether these shades are due to distinct dye, or are the result of time and wear, is an open question.

Why do we go so deep in Oriental Rugs? We'll tell you. American mills are making claims for their products that can't stand analysis. And at the same time they are depreciating Oriental Rugs. We recently received about thirty large advertisements from one of the leading Rug manufacturers in this country. They were sent with the suggestion that we reproduce them in our local papers. We handle their Rugs and we wish to sell them, but not by misrepresentations. Many attempts have been made to imitate Oriental Rugs, but without success. No machine has ever been invented that can give the twist to the yarn and tie the square knots which are peculiar features of the hand-made fabrics. The native Persian or Turk can do it almost from the day he is able to stand at the loom, but his knack is largely inherited. Even in the most ordinary qualities the knots are so minute as to be almost invisible to the naked eye.

We are large dealers in the foremost American Rugs—selling thousands of them annually. Many of them are very beautiful, very serviceable—and the prices are attractive.

We also handle Oriental Rugs on a grand scale—securing them in the most economical way—direct from the New York brokers.

Whatever your choice, the biggest value will be found here—and absolute veracity in the statement of their relative merits.

65,000 STRONG DIX GETS NEW YORK

nominee for lieutenant governor, appears to have swept into office only slightly behind Dix. Returns were lacking late tonight conclusively to show who takes the lesser state offices, but indications pointed to democrats.

G. O. P. Loses Up-State.

The normal republican majority upstate was greatly reduced. The inclement weather tended to cut down the rural vote, and Stimson's estimated plurality to the borders of New York city—about 40,000—is less by approximately 89,000 than the up-state plurality of Hughes in 1908.

Both the assembly and senate returns ran strongly democratic, and there were some notable upsets in even the congressional districts. Representative Herbert Parsons, a life-long friend and political associate of Theodore Roosevelt, and formerly chairman of the republican county committee, was ousted by Jefferson M. Levy. Representative W. W. Cocke, of Nassau county, Theodore Roosevelt's home seat, was tipped out by Martin W. Littleton. William S. Bennett was defeated for congress by Henry George, a son of the political economist.

Sereno E. Payne, father of the tariff bill, was re-electe, but his home town, Auburn, went for Dix; and Vice President Sherman's candidate for congress was defeated by a democrat. Representative Hamilton Fish, republican, gave ground to Richard E. Connell, a democrat.

The Colonel's Home for Dix.

Not only did Colonel Roosevelt lose in the state ticket, and his candidate for congress in Nassau county, but his home town went for Dix, and the democrats jubilantly shouted that they had "beat him to a frazzle."

In New York city the democrats, with one or two exceptions, held all their own in assembly and senate districts, and then carried the war into the enemy's territory. Senator George B. Agnew, joint sponsor for the Hughes anti-racing bills, was defeated by John G. Saxe.

There were even indications that the democrats might seize a working majority in the legislature and dictate the nomination of the next junior United States senator to succeed Senator Chauncey M. Depew, but more complete returns will be necessary to settle this issue.

Old Guard Used Knife.

Albany county, of which the republican leader is William Barnes, Jr., who fought Colonel Roosevelt at Saratoga, gave Dix a slight plurality. Other old guard strongholds were for Stimson by reduced pluralities.

At Democratic Headquarters.

Probably the most cheerful group in the city tonight was that which gathered to receive the election returns at democratic state headquarters. In the absence of State Chairman Huppuch, who went home to vote, headquarters were in charge of William S. Rodie, chairman of the executive committee, and Frank M. Patterson, Mr. Huppuch's chief lieutenant in the campaign.

Mr. Patterson was in constant communication by telephone with Mr. Dix and Mr. Huppuch, who received the returns with the candidate at the latter's home in Thomson.

At 7:30 p. m. Mr. Patterson told Mr. Dix that his election and that of the whole ticket was assured.

"I'm greatly pleased," was Mr. Dix's only comment reported at this end of the wire.

"I wish that David B. Hill could have lived until tonight," said Mr. Patterson. "His dearest wish was to see the democratic party on top again in New York state."

It was hard to say whether the news that Oyster Bay had gone democratic or the small vote polled by the followers of Mr. Hearst caused the most joy at democratic headquarters. The leaders acknowledged, however, that the same causes that helped the democratic ticket in Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut and other states where notable gains were shown contributed to the election of Mr. Dix.

Stimson Explains Defeat.

Henry L. Stimson attributes his defeat to causes nation-wide and a general movement of the republican party toward progressivism.

"There seems to be a ground swell all over the country," he said tonight, "and I was caught in it. I think it's only the beginning. We're beginning to have a realignment of political parties, and the republican party is going through the agony of becoming progressive. The returns speak for themselves. I have nothing to regret. We've had a good, clean fight. I was surprised that I ran so well up with the rest of the ticket."

Mr. Stimson first conceded his defeat as 8 o'clock this evening. An hour and a half later he sent a telegram to John A. Dix, congratulating him on his election.

The republican candidate received returns at his personal campaign headquarters in the Manhattan hotel. With him were his wife, his father, Lewis A. Stimson, and a party of relatives and friends.

At 9:20 o'clock Mr. Stimson sent the following telegram to Mr. Dix:

"The present returns clearly indicate your election. I congratulate you, and send you my good wishes for the success of your administration."

Dix Hears Good News.

Thomson, N. Y., November 8.—John A. Dix first learned of the favorable way the election returns were running shortly after 8 o'clock tonight at "Pine Needles," the Dix homestead, here. He had been working all the evening, and was not disturbed. He was greeted by a jubilant party of friends when he entered the billiard room where the election returns were taken after they had been received over special telephone and telegraph wires at a bungalow at the rear of the house. Red fire was burned all about the place.

TAFT CASTS VOTE IN OLD PRECINCT

It Is Believed President Scratched Ticket.

He Spent Long Time in Booth and Examined Every Name. The Booth Was Too Small for the Portly Form of the President.

Cincinnati, November 8.—President Taft arrived here at 10:30 o'clock to cast his vote in his old precinct in the O'Brienville district of Cincinnati. He went from the train to the home of his brother, C. P. Taft, and planned to go to the polls later. His stay here will be limited to about five hours.

Taft Examined Every Name.

President Taft voted at 11:37 a. m. The polling place was in an empty store at No. 2034 Madison road. The president spent four minutes in the booth marking his ballot. He seemed to be examining every name on it.

Immediately after arrival in the city the president sent the following telegram to the republican candidate for governor:

"Hon. Warren G. Harding, Marion, Ohio: I congratulate you on your wonderful canvass. No matter what the result today, you have commended yourself to your fellow-citizens and have effectively united republican ranks for future contests.

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

The president motored out to the voting place from his brother's residence. Only the usual loungers about places where ballots are cast were on hand, and there was a faint ripple of applause as the president's car came to a standstill. Accompanied by three secret service men, the president entered the store where the voting booths had been placed. The judges of election were idle when Mr. Taft arrived. He was handed ballot No. 15235, and was voted No. 322 in the precinct.

Booth Too Small for Taft.

The president then attempted to disappear in one of the rough board booths, over the front of which a short blue cloth curtain dangled. The booth was not a large one, however, and even the casual observer, dropping into the place, would have become quickly aware of the fact that that particular voting stall was fully occupied. Mr. Taft's silk hat towered above the top of the partitions.

Entering the booth at 11:33, the president did not emerge until 11:37. He then stepped up to the ballot box.

"Your name, please?" inquired the presiding judge.

"William H. Taft," responded the president.

Without further ceremony the ballots were deposited.

There was some talk that the president may have split the ticket as to some of the county offices, but this was due entirely to the length of time he spent in the voting booth, and not to any declaration of such intent on his part.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT AT TENNESSEE BOX

Pistols Flourished—Voting at Tazewell Is Called Off.

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 8.—A free-for-all fight in an effort to secure ballots, ocurred at the court-house of Clairborne county in Tazewell today betwee nrepublicans and independents on one side and Taylor men on the other.

No shots were fired, but pistols were flourished.

It all came about over the fact that there was two sets of election commissioners contending for authority.

The election booths and ballots were torn up and no election was held in consequence.

OLDEST VOTER CASTS REPUBLICAN BALLOT

Ransom Young, 100 Years Old, at the Polls in Pennsylvania.

Hazleton, Pa., November 8.—Perhaps the oldest voter in the state cast his ballot today at Drums, Butler township. He is Ransom Young, who became 100 years old today. The aged man was taken to the polling place in an automobile and put in a straight republican ticket. Mr. Young has voted at every election since he was 21.

"Boys, this is my last ticket," he exclaimed, plaintively, as he was helped from the booth. He was too feeble to mark the ticket himself and a friend put the "x" in the column for him.

EMMET O'NEAL IS CHOSEN FOR GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., November 8.—Incomplete returns from practically every county in the state indicate the election of Hon. Emmet O'Neal, democrat, for governor, over J. O. Thompson and Charles Scott, republicans. One hundred thousand votes were cast and Mr. O'Neal got 75,000. Scott's vote was insignificant.

Hon. John L. Burnett, democrat, was re-elected to congress over M. W. Howard, independent, and Fred Blackmon defeat J. M. Atkins, republican, for congress from the fourth district.

Every republican county in the state went democratic.

NINE DEMOCRATS RETURNED BY THE OLD DOMINION

Richmond, Va., November 8.—The democrats of Virginia today elected their nominees for congress in nine of the ten districts of the state, and possibly triumphed also in the remaining one. The ninth district, which was the chief battleground of the campaign, is tonight claimed by both democrats and republicans. The result is very close, and will probably not be definitely known until tomorrow.

The proposed constitutional amendments, apparently, have been defeated.

making the term of recorder four instead of two years.

He was first elected recorder by the city council fourteen years ago over four other candidates. He was opposed one term by Mr. Hill, and the vote in council was so close that it took a second ballot to elect Judge Broyles, the vote being in a secret caucus. That was the last caucus ever held by council.

plurality, reversing the previous republican plurality of 16,000.

Harmon Holds Place.

In Ohio Governor Judson Harmon, democratic candidate for re-election, appears to have carried the state by about 15,000 over Warren G. Harding, republican candidate.

In New Hampshire Robert H. Bass, republican candidate for governor, is leading Charles E. Carr, democratic candidate, by about 6,000 plurality.

In Rhode Island, Governor Pothier, republican candidate, is slightly in the lead over Lewis A. Waterman, democratic candidate, with a plurality much reduced from that of 1909.

In Tennessee the Fusion candidate, Ben W. Hooper, is apparently elected by 15,000 plurality.

Democratic governors have been elected in Alabama and South Carolina.

Democrat in Iowa.

In Iowa the democrats claim the election of Claude R. Porter for governor, but this is not conceded.

In Wisconsin the election of the republican candidate for governor, Francis E. McGovern, is claimed by a reduced majority and the return of Senator La Follette to the United States senate is assured.

In Michigan Chase E. Osborne, the republican candidate for governor, appears to have a safe lead over L. T. Hemans, democrat.

GOVERNOR STUBBS ELECTED BY A DECREASED MAJORITY

Topeka, Kas., November 8.—Governor W. R. Stubbs, republican, has undoubtedly been elected to succeed himself, but by a decreased majority. Stubbs is running behind in Topeka.

Six of eight republican congressmen will be returned, it appears. The districts in doubt are the third and sixth, in which P. P. Campbell and I. D. Young, republicans, are opposed by Henderson Martin and Frank Rockefeller.

DIPHTHERIA

HOUSEHOLDERS CAUTIONED.

How to Avoid Diseases.

Diphtheria is prevalent. The use of a reliable disinfectant protects the household. The last thing at night pour into the traps of the closets, wash-basins, sinks, etc., just a little Platt's Chlorides. Places where disease germs may develop, nooks behind plumbing and all spots that can't be reached by the scrubbing brush should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part of Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. This dilution costs less than 5 cents a quart. Do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objectionable odors where sprinkling is inadvisable, keep a cloth or sponge moistened with the dilution mentio. . . A little extra care just now may prevent much sickness and expense. Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which instantly destroys foul odors and disease-breeding matter. It is sold by druggists everywhere in full quart bottles, and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt.

SEATS IN SENATE FOR DEMOCRATS

At 2 A. M. the Returns Showed 8 Seats Lost to G. O. P.

Chicago, November 9.—Returns received up to 2 a. m. indicate that the democrats have gained eight seats in the United States senate. The following states which now have republican senators have probably elected a democratic legislature: Indiana, (Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and West Virginia.

NEW HAMPSHIRE REMAINS IN THE REPUBLICAN COLUMN

Concord, N. H., November 8.—The election as governor of Robert P. Bass, of Peterboro, who won the republican nomination on a progressive platform and for whom Colonel Roosevelt spoke three times, was indicated tonight by returns from about one-half the towns and wards of the state. These early figures, if borne out, would give Bass a majority of 6,000 votes over his democratic opponent, Clarence E. Carr, of Andover.

From the same returns the early indications were that Congressman Cyrus A. Sulloway, in the first district, and Frank D. Currier, in the second district, both republicans, would be returned to congress.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE HITS CHICAGO AND COOK COUNTY.

Chicago, November 8.—Returns in Chicago and Cook county at 10:50 o'clock tonight, although less than one-half the total, indicate that the democrats have swept the city and county by from 20,000 to 40,000 votes.

Returns from 700 precincts show that Vogler, republican candidate for sheriff, who is leading his party ticket, will be defeated by Zimmer, democrat, by a plurality of about 15,000.

NEGROES STORM POLLING PLACES

When Denied Right to Vote in Oklahoma.

The Grandfather Clause Was the Cause of the Trouble. Several Election Officials Arrested by the United States Authorities.

Muskogee, Okla., November 8.—A telephone message from Coweta, Okla., states that negroes took possession of a voting booth in a school house in a negro settlement four miles from Coweta this morning. The white election officers were thrown out of the polling place, the negroes declaring they would vote despite the grandfather clause. A messenger was sent to Coweta, asking for help and two automobiles with fifteen white men, armed with shotguns, left for the scene.

Warrants were issued this afternoon for the arrest of eight election officials in Muskogee and Wagoner counties. The warrants, which were issued by the federal authorities, charge violation of a section of the federal code, which has reference to conspiracy to prevent legal voters from exercising the right of suffrage.

Election Officers Arrested.

McAlester, Okla., November 8.—Election officers in four precincts were arrested here this forenoon on warrants issued by a United States commissioner, charging them with having denied negroes the right to vote for congressmen in this, the fourth, district. All were taken before the commissioner and held in bail of $200 each for a hearing next Monday. They made bond and went back to their duties.

The democrats then caused the arrest of all the negroes who made the complaints, charging them with intimidating an election officer.

A justice held the negroes in $2,000 bail each. Conservative citizens fear trouble.

Serious Trouble Threatened.

Tulsa, Okla., November 8.—Serious trouble was threatened here today when C. W. Nelons, a negro Methodist minister, was refused the right to vote. A large crowd of negroes gathered around the voting booth and a clash seemed imminent, when officers appeared on the scene.

Nelons later caused the United States commissioner to swear out a warrant for the election officials, who denied him the right to vote.

WILLIAM SCHLEY HOWARD.
Elected a sthe next congressman from the Fifth District.

His vote in Atlanta was approximately 2,300 and in the country districts in Fulton 500, making a total of 2,800.

Since the democrats settled their diferences at the primary, and there was no republican or independent candidate, Howard's name was the only one on the ballot.

This accounted for the very light vote polled. The registered voters in the primary exceeded 14,000 and the number of votes polled about 11,300.

There was little or no interest shown at any of the polls.

KEYSTONE REPUBLICANS CLAIM A HEAVY PLURALITY

Philadelphia, November 8.—The polls closed in this city and throughout the state at 7 o'clock. United States Senator Penrose claims the election of John K. Tener, republican, as governor of Pennsylvania, by a heavy plurality.

Pittsburg November 8.—The early returns from Allegheny county indicate the republican state ticket will run ahead of pre-election claims of the state committee. John K. Tener, nominee for governor in 78 districts polled 2 to 1 against the reform nominee and 13 to 1 against his democratic opponent.

Philadelphia, November 8.—Republican State Chairman Walton claims the election of Congressman John K. Tener, republican, by 100,000. Berry his Keystone party opponent, does not appear to have been as strong as his friends had expected, while Grim, the democratic candidate, is running far behind.

WOMAN IS ELECTED TO HUSBAND'S OFFICE

Mr. Johnson was the incumbent of the office, and the democratic nominee for re-election, but was mistaken for a deer by a companion on a hunt last Sunday and fatally shot.

In Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., November 8.—The democrats made a clean sweep in today's congressional election, electing all nominees. A fair vote was polled.

THOUSANDS SEE CANVAS RETURNS

Constitution Tells the Story to Atlanta.

Great Crowd Gathers at Five Points to Witness the Defeat of the Republicans in the Greatest States of the Nation.

Hot from the telegraph wires the news of the results of yesterday's election was flashed to the Atlanta public last night by The Constitution's bulletins at Five Points.

And, as usual, the whole story of the elections in many states, the story of democratic victories and of republican defeats, was told tersely and with all essential details by the bulletins flashed from The Constitution's own lantern on the third floor of the Elkin-Watson building to the canvas stretched across the front of the building on the opposite side of Peachtree street.

That the citizens of Atlanta were thoroughly alive to the importance of the election and what it meant to the democratic party, was shown by the fact that although there was no state election on, there were several thousand persons present to get the returns as flashed by The Constitution.

In order that the public might be given the opportunity of learning the results at the earliest possible moment, The Constitution had the Western Union carry a direct wire to the third floor of the Elkin-Watson building, and at that point an active corps of workers saw to it that the full details of the election were flashed to the throng below without loss of time.

The crowd that assembled at Five Points to watch the bulletins was one of the largest that ever assembled in Atlanta for a similar purpose.

The election for city recorder had aroused great interest throughout the city and county as well as the heated contests for governors and congressmen in New York and other states, and long before the first bulletin was flashed at 7 o'clock there was an anxious and interested throng of spectators assembled.

As the more complete returns began coming in the size of the crowd increased, until at 9 o'clock the junction of the five thoroughfares was densely packed with people and traffic moved with difficulty.

Interest in the outcome of the various elections showed no sign of abating until the "good night" bulletin was flashed, and then the immense crowd dispersed, satisfied that as usual the whole story of the election had been told by The Constitution's bulletins accurately and with all possible speed.

CONGRESS FALLS INTO THE GRIP

Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The known democratic gain up to 2 o'clock was 19 seats, offset by the republican gains from the democrats, one each in New York and Pennsylvania.

Democrats Get Congress.

Reports received from other states indicated the democrats would have ample margin to assure them the 22 seats necessary to give them control of the house, two democratic gains previously having been reported in Maine.

In Oklahoma returns indicated that the democrats probably gained two seats, due apparently to the operation of the grandfather clause, which debarred negro republicans from voting.

At democratic headquarters in New Jersey it was claimed that the state would hold eight seats, making a democratic gain of five.

Gains in West Virginia.

In West Virginia reports stated the democrats had gained in three congressional districts.

Missouri returns showed one known gain with three probable democratic gains, while in Iowa and Illinois the returns indicated that the democratic gains would total six seats.

In North Carolina, returns indicated democratic gains probably would increase to three.

A big surprise came from Wisconsin, when the republican committee conceded the election of Victor L. Berger, social democrat, to congress from the fifth district, which is now held by the republicans.

What Chairman Lloyd Says.

"President indications are that congress will be democratic about 35 majority. Thus far the returns indicate that our pre-election estimates were about correct.

"The causes which have led to the results of today are well known. It is a serious rebuke to the republican party for its failure to reduce the tariff as the people believed the party had promised. The high cost of protected, manufactured articles which has resulted in greatly increased cost of living, has had very much to do with producing this result.

General Dissatisfaction.

"There is general dissatisfaction with the existing political conditions and with the present republican administration. This has led to its repudiation as far as could be done at the polls.

"The democratic party has won a victory because the people is in its supremacy.

"The republican party has shown by its course that it will not enact legislation in the interest of the masses, where such legislation would be to the detriment of the classes.

Democratic Control a Certainty.

Democratic control of the next house of representatives became a certainty shortly after midnight. It was then known that the democrats had gained 26 seats in the house, including two previously secured in Maine. Republicans gained from the democrats two seats, making the democratic net gain 24, which is sufficient to give them control.

That they will have a good working majority was indicated by the returns from several states, among them New Jersey. Returns there showed that there would probably be a gain of six democrats in the representation of that state.

Other returns from New York and Pennsylvania indicated the success of several democrats in their contests for seats now held by republicans.

The democrats also expected to increase their lead by returning several members from Illinois and also from Missouri.

It was considered possible that they would be successful in several other doubtful states. The definite gains were:

New York 8, Pennsylvania 3, North Carolina 2, Ohio 2, Massachusetts 2, Maryland 2, Connecticut 1, Illinois 12, Iowa 1, Kentucky 1, Missouri 1, West Virginia 1.

What the Returns Show.

The returns show the political complexion of the various state delegations in the sixty-second congress to be as follows. The make-up of the sixty-first congress is also compared:

OLD KENTUCKY CHOOSES 8 DEMOCRATS FOR CONGRESS

Louisville, Ky., November 8.—Eight democratic congressmen and four democratic judges of the court of appeals elected and one congressional race close with the odds favoring the democrats is the result of today's election in Kentucky. In the closest race, that in the ninth district, incomplete returns indicate the election of W. J. Fields, democrat, over J. B. Bennett, the republican incumbent.

Complete returns from the ninth district congressional race are not expected to be available until tomorrow night.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN, BUT BY A VERY CLOSE VOTE.

Philadelphia, November 8.—Estimates from all but five of the sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania indicate that John K Tener, republican, carried the state by about 25,000 plurality over William H. Berry, the Keystone party candidate. Webster Gram, the regular democratic candidate, ran far behind.

Tener needed Philadelphia to win, the city giving him a plurality of 45,254. Allegheny county, which includes Pittsburg, gave Tener an estimated plurality of 15,000.

The democrats gained two congressmen with three close districts to hear from.

The democrats and independents made slight gains in the legislature. One of the notable victories of the democrats was the capturing of the fifth congressional district in Philadelphia, which two years ago gave W. W. Foulkerod a majority of 13,268.

The socialists elected their first member of the legislature.

Landslide for Prohis.

Greenville, S. C., November 8.—Returns from many parts of Greenville county show a landslide victory for the prohibitionists on the question of dispensary or no dispnsary in this county, the vote standing: 696 for, 1,928 against, representing probably two-thirds of the vote polled.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN CONCEDES G. O. P. DEFEAT

THE COLONEL AND KERMIT CAST THEIR VOTES TOGETHER

Oyster Bay, N. Y., November 8.—In the old family carry-all, Theodore Roosevelt drove from Sagamore Hill at noon to the polling place in the fire company's house in Oyster Bay and voted. Kermit Roosevelt at the same time cast his first ballot. There were three others in the carriage, Noah Seaman, who was in charge of Colonel Roosevelt's estate; "Bill" Bailey, the colonel's farm hand, and James Amos, his negro butler.

Kermit never having voted before, did not know how to do it and his father showed him. The colonel had ballot No. 217 and his son 218.

Colonel Roosevelt did not appear to be at all anxious over the outcome of the election, although he had no prophecies to make. He said he was sorry that the weather was so rainy, as it might affect the up-state vote.

"No matter what the result of the election is," he continued, "the republican party will carry on the fight on the same lines."

He said that he was in good trim physically, despite his hard campaign, and that he felt fit to go through it all over again.

"But," he added, "I am now going back to peace and quiet, to stay at home."

WICKERSHAM NEAR ARREST BY AN ELECTION OFFICER

New York, November 8.—By a fortunate turn of affairs, United States Attorney General George W. Wickersham escaped arrest and arraignment in a police court today.

Through either the ignorance or oversight of some one connected with the registry verification system, the law granting federal employees the right to vote from their last place of residence, no matter how long they have been absent, was ignored and because Mr. Wickersham was not found at No. 36 East Fifty-first street, where he lived before he went to Washington, he was formally placed on the challenge list and a policeman waited for him so that he might be arrested if he appeared to vote.

The State Superintendent of Elections William Leary saw that after Mr. Wickersham's name and address was the note, "in federal employ." This, Superintendent Leary said, should have been sufficient to have Mr. Wickersham's vote accepted, and fortunately the cabinet officer did not appear at the polling place before Mr. Leary heard of the error.

TAFT HEARD THE RETURNS AND KEPT HIS MOUTH SHUT

Pittsburg, November 8.—The first news of the complexion of election returns from the various states were received by President Taft when he reached this city at 11 o'clock tonight on his way from Cincinnati, where he had gone to vote, to Washington. A summary of the results were placed in the president's hands, but he would make no comment upon them. He had cast his vote at Cincinnati shortly before noon and left that city at 3:10 p. m. He received his first intimation of the democratic trend in the various states at Columbus. The only information available at that time was the Massachusetts situation.

Mr. Taft was prepared for the worst in Ohio. Arthur I. Vorys rode with him as far as Cincinnati and Wade H. Ellis is traveling all the way to Washington. They told the president early in the afternoon that there appeared to be little chance for Mr. Harding.

The president dined with Charles P. Taft, who is going to Panama with the president. They were still seated at the dinner table when the train reached Dennison, Ohio. There a number of telegrams from the white house at Washington was put aboard. The news contained in these dispatches bore out the earlier intimations.

The unfavorable news was read in silence. The Taft smile was gone. At last, however, the president's face lit up and he had a good laugh, for the final dispatch read like this:

"And at 5 o'clock this afternoon Pauline Wayne gave birth to a fine bull calf weighing 100 pounds."

The SPIRIT TRAIL By KATE and VIRGIL D BOYLES

THE last struggle of the Sioux for the lands granted them in the Laramie Treaty of 1868 forms the background for this love story of unusual power. During this struggle the daughter of the Indian Agent is kidnaped—while her lover is in jail convicted of murder. His escape through the aid of a frontier missionary, and his rescue of the girl furnishes enough excitement for the most captious fiction reader. It is the best Indian story of many years and the illustrations in color by Maynard Dixon are in every way worthy of the text.

BALDWIN WINS IN NUTMEG STATE

Great Victory for Democrats in Connecticut.

Judge Baldwin Is Leading His Republican Opponent by a Good Majority---The G. O. P. Gets Rest of the State Ticket.

New Haven, Conn., November 9.—Under the leadership of Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, recently retired as chief justice of the state, the democrats won a victory at the polls yesterday, which, when the figures are completely counted, promises to be one of the greatest in the history of the party in Connecticut.

With something over a dozen places to be heard from at 1:30 o'clock this morning, some of these industrial centers, Judge Baldwin was leading his republican opponent, Charles A. Goodwin, of Hartford, by about 1,500 votes.

The indications are that the rest of the state ticket has been elected by the republicans. The democrats won the second congressional district. The third and fourth are still in doubt.

BURNETT IS TRIUMPHANT IN THE SEVENTH ALABAMA

Birmingham, Ala., November 8.—Congressman John L. Burnett was re-elected in the seventh Alabama district today by a majority of between 500 and 750.

Burnett's majority all over the district is greatly reduced. This was the only doubtful contest in the state today.

Rhode Island Republican.

Providence, R. I., November 8.—The re-election of Aram J. Pothier as governor of Rhode Island by a plurality of 1,200, as against a plurality of about 12,000 at the last election, was the outcome of a close contest at the polls in this state today. Lewis A. Waterman, democrat, was Governor Pothier's opponent. The incoming general assembly will be largely republican. It will have the choice of a successor to United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich.

Republicans Lead in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., November 6.—At 10 p. m., Chase S. Osborn, republican, for governor, appeared to have a safe lead over Lawton T. Hemans, democrat.

One Cannon Man Elected.

Des Moines, November 8.—The re-election of Walter R. Smith, a member of the Cannon rules committee, is conceded by 2,500 plurality over W. F. Cleveland.

FOUR DEMOCRATS NAMED AS GOVERNORS

HIS VOICE LOST BY THE COLONEL

Roosevelt Is Speechless Over the Result.

"Absolutely Nothing to Say," the Word That Came From Sagamore Hill---Some Guessing as to the Attitude of the Colonel.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., November 8.—"Absolutely nothing to say," was the word that came from Sagamore Hill tonight. Theodore Roosevelt was at home all evening, but he declined even to receive interviewers.

Kermit Roosevelt appeared at the door when at 9:30 o'clock an attempt was made to see the colonel.

"The colonel has absolutely nothing to say," said Kermit.

Only fragmentary returns were received at Sagamore Hill during the evening and up to 10 o'clock the colonel had heard almost nothing of the way the elections were going outside New York state. When Kermit was informed of the returns from Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Ohio he turned abruptly and, hastening into the house, told the news to his father.

The probable attitude of Colonel Roosevelt in view of the result of the election can be judged only by what he has said the last few days. In his speech at Davenport, Iowa, last Friday he said if the republicans were beaten this time they would win the next time, and that win or lose, the fight would go on. Just after he had voted today he said again that whether the result was favorable or not the "party would keep up the fight."

He has made it clear that he regards today's election as only a step in a fixed program and that so far as the New York state situation is concerned he believes that his victory over the "old guard" has placed the party in a position from which it can go steadily ahead.

Colonel Roosevelt has not given his indications as to what political move he will make in the future. All that he has said is that he expects to enjoy the seclusion of Sagamore Hill for some time to come.

GREAT GAINS ARE CLAIMED BY WEST VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS.

Wheeling, W. Va., November 8.—Returns at 10 o'clock indicate that the democrats of West Virginia have made large gains in every section of the state. The election of John W. Davis, for congress, first district; W. G. democratis of West Virginia have made Hamilton, fourth district, are claimed by the democrats. Big gains in the third and fifth districts are also recorded. Five state senators and thirty or more members of the legislature are also gained, according to the claims, but the results are so close the official count will be necessary. The republicans concede large losses in the state.

GOVERNOR AND LEGISLATURE FOR WISCONSIN REPUBLICANS

Milwaukee, Wis., November 8.—United States Senator La Follette, republican, will be re-elected to the upper house of congress by the legislature elected in Wisconsin today. The election of Francis E. McGovern, republican candidate for governor, is claimed by the republican state central committee by a reduced plurality.

Eight republicans and one democrat (sixth district) have been elected to congress and two districts, the fourth and fifth, are in doubt.

The social democrats are making heavy gains in Milwaukee county and claim they will elect their county ticket.

J. Warren Keifer Goes Back.

Springfield, Ohio, November 8.—J. Warren Keifer, Sprinfield, republican, is re-elected congressman from the seventh Ohio district.

Sweep in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., November 8.—The democratic party makes a clean sweep in North Carolina.

Ten democratic congressmen are elected, the fifth, eighth and tenth having been republican.

FASSET IS DEFEATED IN RACE FOR RE-ELECTION

Republican Congressman in New York Goes Down Before Democrat.

Elmira, N. Y., November 8.—Congressman J. Sloat Fassett, republican, was defeated for re-election in the third congressional district by Edward H. Underhill, democrat.

Six Prisoners Get Away.

Roanoke, Va., November 8.—In a jail delivery at Christiansburg, Va., tonight six prisoners got away and all were recaptured. Ellis Goad, Elmer Willis and Sam Gillespie, all under penitentiary sentences for murder; Marshal Huffman, under sentence for jail breaking; John Maxsey, for forgery, and Will Lewis, a lunatic, gat away when Huffman picked a lock and set the men free.

CHAMP CLARK CHUCKLING AND TALKS OF SPEAKERSHIP

Bowling Green, Mo., November 8.—Champ Clark, minority leader in the house of representatives, when advised tonight that the democrats would probably control the next house of representatives, expressed his gratification and predicted that the majority would be 50 democratic members.

"The landslide," said Mr. Clark, "is attributable directly to the tariff and the fight on the rules in the house. The rules split the republican party and the tariff bill coming so soon after, caused dissatisfaction throughout the country.

"I am an avowed candidate for speaker of the house of representatives," said Congressman Clark, "and I hope to be elected. Others have announced their candidacy for the speakership, but I expect to win over them. The election tonight is a sure end to the objectionable house rules."

Clark and Underwood.

Washington, November 8.—Champ Clark, of Missouri, will be the most conspicuous candidate for speaker of the next congress and Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, will figure for the chairmanship of the ways and means committee.

Both are members of that committee now and are not only personal friends, but Underwood is Clark's principal lieutenant in the minority of the present congress.

AND EVEN IOWA QUITS THE G. O. P.

Looks Like Democrats Have Won State.

Both Parties Make Claims on the Governorship, But the Democrats Are the More Confident--G. O. P. May Win by Narrow Margin.

Des Moines, Iowa, November 8.—At midnight tonight both democrats and republicans claimed the governorship, with the democrats showing the greater confidence. If Governor Carroll is re-elected, it will be by the narrowest of margins.

Claude R. Porter, democratic gubernatorial candidate, claimed that he would carry the state by 20,000, but more conservative estimates placed this plurality, if any, at 4,000 or 5,000.

Republican State Chairman Carl Franke declared that the country districts, despite a light vote, would more than make up the republican losses in the cities.

Whatever the result may be, it is certain that the aggressive campaign carried on by the democrats, coupled with factional strife in the republican ranks, has wiped out the normal republican plurality in this state—about 60,000.

Governor Carroll was scratched mercilessly. The remainder of the republican state ticket is probably elected.

I. S. Pepper, the young democratic candidate in the second district, walked away with the election, carrying every county over his opponent, Charles Grilk, for whom Colonel Roosevelt recently made his address at Davenport.

DAHLMAN LOSES IN NEBRASKA FIGHT

Man Bryan Bolted on Liquor Question Fails to Get Majority.

Omaha, November 8.—Although the returns at midnight were comparatively meager, it was apparent that Mayor James C. Dahlman, of Omaha, democratic candidate for governor, was defeated by Chester A. Aldrich, republican, by a safe majority. Figures on the rest of the state ticket were insufficient to make an estimate of the result.

Congressman G. M. Hitchcock, democrat, on the face of the returns, has a safe lead over United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett in the race for the senate.

Dahlman was opposed by W. J. Bryan, who bolted the democratic nominee on the liquor issue.

Hitchcock, democrat, for United States senator under the Oregon plan, ran ahead of Dahlman, and prominent republicans concede that he leads Senator Burkett, republican, in Douglas county by more than ten thousand.

Democrats Win in Montana.

Helena, Mont., November 8.—Returns, though meager, indicate that the democrats will control the legislature to elect a successor to Senator Carter.

BAY STATE GOES WITH DEMOCRATS

Foss Is Chosen Governor Instead of Draper.

The Democratic Plurality Will Be About 25,000—the Indications Are That Lodge Will Be Returned to the United States Senate.

Boston, Mass., November 8.—With the high cost of living and the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill and certain labor measures as the principal issues, the democrats won the state election today and placed Congressman Eugene N. Foss, a former republican, in the chair occupied by Governor Draper for the last two years. Early returns showed that the democrats came very near carrying their victory along to other offices on the state ticket. Those early returns, however, did not materially jeopardize the chance of the return of United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

The vote, while not as heavy as in the last presidential year, ranged close to that in 1906, but fell considerably behind the total vote in 1904, the last time that the democrats won the state election.

Mr. Foss' plurality was about 25,000. Up to a late hour tonight it looked as if the republicans had won the first, second, fifth, sixth, eighth, twelfth and thirteenth districts, and that the democrats had been successful in the third, fourth, seventh, ninth, tenth and eleventh districts, leaving the fourteenth district in doubt.

"This victory voices the protest of Massachusetts against the Payne-Aldrich bill, the present high cost of living and the broken pledges of the republican party. I deeply appreciate the honor and realize the responsibility which it brings. It is a vote of confidence on the part of the people of this commonwealth. We must make good. I shall endeavor to do my part, and I ask the co-operation of every citizen."

G. O. P. MAY LOSE NEW YORK SENATOR

Returns on the Legislature Show Big Democratic Gains.

New York, November 8.—Ninety-five assembly districts reported out of a total of 150, showed a democratic gain of 33, or little more than one district in every three.

Thirty-seven senate districts reported out of a total of 51, showed a democratic gain of ten.

If the full returns show a corresponding increase, the democrats will gain 51 seats in the assembly and 13 in the senate. They now have 51 votes in the assembly, and 16 in the senate, so that, assuming they make the gains estimated above, they will have in the next assembly 101 votes (necessary to a majority 76), and in the next senate 29 votes (necessary to a majority 26). They will thus be able to name the next United States senator to succeed Senator Depew, the senior senator.

These figures will not improbably be reduced by the full returns, inasmuch as the delayed districts are mainly upstate, which is normally republican.

Democrat in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., November 8.—Carey, democrat, for governor, has a majority of 3,000 over Mullen, republican, in 480 precincts.

M'KINLEY CARVES G. O. P. CADAVER

Republican Leader Tells How It Happened.

He Says That the Republicans Did Not Vote Because of Factional Differences---Admits Tariff Was a Disturbing Element.

Chicago, November 8.—William B. McKinley, chairman of the republican national congressional committee, shortly before 11 o'clock tonight made the following statement:

"When it is considered, as now seems to be the fact, that barely two-thirds of the republican vote in the middle western states came to the polls and the further fact that factional differences had aroused an unusual degree of bitterness among the republicans, the result of today's election is not at all surprising.

"Every effort to promote harmony was made by this committee, in many instances with success.

"The revision of the tariff always has proved a disturbing element in American politics and this year has been no exception. Judging by the light vote polled, the republican party today had the same experience it had in 1892, two years after the passage of the McKinley bill.

"It is my opinion that two years from now, after it shall have been fully demonstrated that the present tariff bill is beneficial to the country, the same conditions will obtain as in 1894, when the republicans swept the country. After the democratic Wilson tariff bill had become a law the distress in the country was so widespread that the people returned the republican party to power by a tremendous majority.

"Looking to the future, it is my opinion that this defeat will wipe out all factional differences and that the republican party will present a united front in 1912.

"There is no question in my mind but that the American people in 1912 will give the present occupant of the white house a substantial endowment for the wise and patriotic administration he has given them.

"WILLIAM B. M'KINLEY.
"Chairman Republican National Congressional Committee."

FLORIDA BALKS AT PROHIBITION

Defeat Is Given to State-Wide Proposal.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 8.—Reports up to 11 o'clock tonight indicate that the constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition has been defeated by an estimated majority of between 2,000 and 3,000. Duval county, Jacksonville, returned a wet majority of approximately 3,000, while the Tampa vote is close, and is claimed by both factions. The local optionists polled their heaviest votes in St. Johns county, St. Augustine and Escambia county, Pensacola, while the state vote in general was slightly in favor of the prohibitionists.

The majority of the "wets," it is claimed, is sufficient to carry the state even if later returns are against local option. Nearly half the vote of the state is counted.

The full democratic ticket was elected, with but slight opposition.

NORMAN E. MACK GOES REPUBLICAN

Democratic National Chairman Voted Wrong Ticket by Mistake.

Buffalo, N. Y., November 8.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the democratic national committee, today voted the straight republican ticket. It was an error, but it could not be rectified. Subsequently he told of the joke on himself.

"I wanted to see how fast I could vote my party ticket on the voting machine," he said. "It was somewhat dark in the booth, and in my haste, I pulled the wrong lever and voted the republican ticket. I immediately announced to the election inspectors my error and asked permission to correct the mistake, but, of course, the inspectors would not permit."

GREATER ATLANTA TOAST AT DINNER

Atlanttans Enthuse Over City's Advancement.

At Chamber of Commerce Dinner Ways and Means of Making Atlanta Bigger, Brighter and Better Are Discussed. Speakers Applauded.

Planning for Atlanta's future even greater things than her past has ever known, bringing forward ideas for the city's advancement along all lines and promising one and all to work unflaggingly to the common end of making this not only the greatest city in the south, but one of the greatest in the country, 600 of the city's most representative business men gathered at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce's Greater Atlanta dinner at Taft hall last night to discuss ways and means of making Atlanta bigger, brighter and better than she stands today.

There were present at the dinner almost 400 members of the chamber of commerce and almost half as many visitors, many of whom enrolled themselves on the roster of the roganization before leaving the hall.

Personnel of Gathering.

Men who stand high not only in the chamber of commerce, but in the political, business and social life of the city addressed the assembled hundreds, telling them of what the chamber of commerce has stood for in the past, what it stands for today and what it means to do for the upbuilding of the city in the future. The other members present were fired anew with enthusiasm for the work which they have taken up, while those who were not members got a clearer insight into what it is that has so long made the chamber of commerce such an important factor in the city's development. Among the latter were scores who decided that as true adherents to the belief in the "Atlanta Spirit" they could no longer remain outside an organization which is doing so much for the city, and before leaving the hall had their names enrolled on the roster of the organization.

Enthusiasm Runs High.

It is doubtful if ever before in the history of the city were speakers received with enthusiasm equal to that which the assembled hundreds displayed at this dinner. The speakers were interrupted from time to time by bursts of applause, which made it impossible for them to continue for several minutes.

Mayor Robert F. Maddox came in for an especially enthusiastic reception when he arose. It was several minutes before he could begin talking and more than once his voice was drowned by the cheers which went up from all parts of the room.

"Hayseeds" for Fair.

A unique feature of the occasion was the appearance of the members of the chamber committee on agriculture in real "hayseed" attire.

When the diners were all gathered in Taft hall, or most of them, a strange figure appeared at the door, clad in a hickory shirt, wide straw hat, such as the harvest hands wear, and carrying an old-fashioned dinner horn. Putting the conch to his lips, Nym Hurt blew a long blast. At the sound, there was a rush of feet from an ante-room and half a hundred other figures, clad in harvesters' hats and carrying on their shoulders rakes with wisps of straw sticking to them, filed into the room and took their places at the head of the table. These were the farmer members of the chamber of commerce.

Among this group of practical farmers and landed proprietors were Governor Joseph M. Terrell, Judge Andy Calhoun, H. C. Bagley, C. J. Haden, H. G. Hastings, George W. Harrison, H. C. Fisher, S. B. Turman and others.

J. T. Holleman, chairman of this committee, was the first to address those present. Such insistent cries from all parts of the house called for him to talk that he was forced to his feet before the dinner had been served.

Mr. Holleman made a short but extremely interesting talk, dealing largely with the work of his committee.

He began by calling attention to the fact that farming lands in Georgia are rapidly rising in price, and advised all those who wished to invest to do so at once. The people of Atlanta cannot afford to fail to show to its young men that no business is more honorable or will yield better returns than farming. The speaker closed with an interesting summary of the work the agricultural committee is now doing.

Judge George Hillyer, another member of the committee, followed Mr Holleman, making a short but extremely interesting talk as to what the committee stands for. He closed with a stirring appeal for new membership to both the chamber and agricultural committee.

Interest in Election Returns.

Throughout the time dinner was being served, The Constitution's election returns were read as received by special wire in the lobby, and as it became apparent that the democrats were leading in many places, the diners cheered lustily. Particular interest centered in the local recorder's race, and N. R. Broyles was given a rousing cheer when it was announced that he had won over his opponent.

Colonel J. L. Burke's Talk.

Just after cigars and coffee had been served, President Paxon recognized Colonel J. L. Burke, who brought to the meeting messages from a number of military organizations in the east to the effect that they desire to visit this city next fall when the old Gate City Guard monument is unveiled. The colonel's talk was widly cheered, and a resolution extending to the friends in the east a most cordial invitation to come to Atlanta was passed by a unanimous vote.

Major R. J. Guinn.

Major R. J. Guinn followed Colonel Burke. "In its last analysis," said he, "a city is but a reflex of her citizenry. Then, how great must be Atlanta tonight as judged by this magnificent gathering. And if you can judge a plant by the seed, how great will she be in the future, judging by the men here in whose hands her destiny lies."

The speaker then set out some of the things that have helped Atlanta in which the chamber of commerce played its part. The organization, he said, has always stood for the highest and best in social, political and commercial life, and closed with the prediction that the greatness of Atlatna of the future will consist, in a large measure, of the greatness of her citizenry, to which end the chamber of commerce is working.

Greater Atlanta's Men.

B. M. Hood began with the statement: "It takes men, and not brick and mortar, to make a city." He followed by showing that the infusion of country blood into the city life is necessary for the city's advancement, and said that he hoped Atlanta can continue to offer attractions to the country-bred youth. This she must do, he said, if she hopes to reach the topmost round in the ladder of success. He closed with the statement that the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce "is the dynamo which generates the 'Atlanta Spirit.'"

Next Democratic Convention Here.

Mayor Maddox brought forth wild cheers by referring to the democratic victory in many parts of the country and predicting that the next democratic national convention will be held in this city.

"The future of Atlanta," he said, "promises today to be far brighter than even the most sanguine Atlantans dared hope only a short time ago. The men who are making the chamber of commerce are the very men who are going to make Atlanta what she deserves to be—one of the greatest cities, not only in the country, but in the world. The past and present of her story reads like a romance, but a day of even greater things is just dawning for all of us who love our dear old city."

Atlanta Beautiful.

Alex W. Smith make a short but most interesting talk as to what may be accomplished for the city in making it beautiful. He spoke of the smoke nuisance from factories and trains; he advocated the establishment of more parks, the passage of ordinances prohibiting the blowing of whistles and automobile horns in the city; and in closing, made a strong plea for the proposed plaza over the Georgia road's tracks in the center of the city. Mr. Smith, it will be remembered, played an important part in drafting the plaza bill which is now pending before the legislature.

Eight Millions in Advertising.

Mr. McMichael, one of the city's best-known advertising men, stated that Atlanta annually spends more than $8,000,000. He showed how Atlanta products are sold over the whole civilized world. The "Atlanta Spirit," he said, in closing, "is about 99 per cent in advertising, and I believe there is no question but that the marvelous development of our wonderful city is, in a large measure, due to Atlanta's belief in thte old maxim, 'It pays to advertise.'"

600 BUSINESS MEN ENJOY CONSTITUTION'S RETURNS AT BIG CHAMBER BANQUET

To 600 of Atlanta's leading business men The Constitution carried the story of democratic victory, as it was flashed over the wires from every part of the country last night.

They were assembled in Taft hall, Auditorium-Armory, at the biggest and best annual dinner the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has ever given; and to the banquet hall The Constitution had run, by special arrangement with the Western Union Telegraph Company, wires direct from New York and Washington, bringing from the national clearing houses of election returns, the results the moment they were known.

The returns began to come in at 6:30 p. m., as soon as the guests sat down to dinner, and they were announced one after another in rapid succession, hot from the wire, until the speaking began, and then, between the speeches, the bulletins which had accumulated were reeled off much to the entertainment and interest of the big assemblage.

Like democrats at the banquet board, bulletins of democratic victory predominated; but the scattering of republicans present "took the gaff" with the best of good nature, and now and then, when report came of a republican community standing pat, they jocularly turned the tables on their more numerous democratic brethren.

There was enthusiastic interest, too, in the local election features—the victory of Recorder Nash R. Broyles, and in the reports from Georgia's three contested congressional districts, which were supplied by The Constitution over the wire as rapidly as the counts were made.

Reports of democratic victory, or even republican losses, where the democrats did not quite win out, brought forth cheers from the banqueters—they enjoyed to the utmost the fulfillment of their anticipations.

The service was in splendid shape, and the bulletins came thick and fast on the dot as votes were counted.

It made a distinct hit with Atlanta's foremost business men, among whom, on all sides, was heard warm praise and commendation of The Constitution's splendid election return service.

VOTERS TRUDGE THROUGH SNOW

To Reach Polls in New York State.

Storm in Every Part of the State Except Northern Counties---Many Women Watchers at the Polls in New York City.

New York, November 8.—More than a million and a half voters, who registered their choice for all the state and congressional offices in New York state today, traveled to the polls over roads white with snow. Snow was falling this morning in every part of the state except the northern counties. The storm of last night had ceased in Washington, Franklin, Hamilton, St. Lawrence and Saratoga counties, but many towns in this district sent word of bad roads and threatening weather indicated for later in the day.

The western part of the state and the southern tier of counties were buried under a blanket of snow, that at Jamestown reaching a foot in depth. In some places, as the sun rose higher, the snow changed to a drizzling rain, more discouraging to the reluctant voter than ever.

In New York City the day opened with a light fall of snow that soon changed to rain, and toward 11 o'clock ceased, although the skies were still lowering.

The morning passed with no marked disturbances at the polls. It was said, however, that the superintendent of election had 500 warrants covering alleged illegal registration ready for use if the persons named attempted to vote.

Among the watchers were fifty women who had been stationed at the polls by the Republican Volunteer Watchers' Association. They belonged to the women's suffrage organizations. One of them was Miss Maud Ingersoll, daughter of the late Robert G. Ingersoll. She was on duty in Charles F. Murphy's assembly district.

NO PROHIBITION FOR MISSOURI

"Show-Me-State" Decides to Stay Wet.

Returns Indicate Defeat of Amendment by Great Majority---David R. Francis Is Snowed Under for the United States Senate.

St. Louis, November 8.—Returns received here up to 2 o'clock this morning indicate that the proposed statewide prohibition amendment to the constittuion has been defeated in Missouri by a majority approximating 140,000. The majority in St. Louis, alone, against prohibition, with only twenty-five precincts to hear from, is in excess of 90,000.

Returns at 2:30 from the state indicate that the democrats have carried the legislature, and will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator Warner, republican.

Francis Is Beaten.

Kansas City, November 8.—The Kansas City Times, at midnight, quoted the state committeee as saying: "James A. Reed had deefated David R. Francis for the democratic nomination for United States senator."

The Times estimated that prohibition was defeated by 100,000 in the state.

The democrats carried Jackson county, including Kansas City, by an average majority of 2,000 votes.

The county has gone wet by 20,000 votes.

James A. Reed leads his democratic opponent for the senatorial nomination, D. R. Francis, 2 to 1 in precincts reporting.

Prayer services were held in every ward of the city today under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and others interested in the prohibition constitutional amendment.

The churches kept open, and every hour church bells were rung. In precincts where there was no church, open-air prayer meetings were conducted.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN WINNING IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, November 8.—Early returns from all sections of California indicate that Johnson, republican, has defeated Bell, democrat, for governor. 339 precincts, out of 3,109 in the state, give for governor: Johnson, republican, 18,229; Bell, democrat, 12,329.

If this ratio is maintained, Johnson's indicated plurality is 51,931.

Anti-American Outbreak.

Mexico City, November 8.—A crowd of men and boys, variously estimated at from 1,000 to 1,200, made an anti-American demonstration in the streets here tonight, prompted by news of the lynching of a Mexican, Antonio Rodriguez, at Rock Springs, Texas, on the night of November 3.

$300,000 Loss by Fire.

Dallas, Texas, November 8.—Fire tonight destroyed the cotton seed plant of the Trinity Cotton Oil Company here, together with a large amount of cotton seed stored in the building and in freight cars near the plant. The loss to the plant alone is estimated at $300,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Pottery First of All Handicraft

"Ancient Glass and Pottery" was the subject of an address given recently by T. B. Walker, president of the Minnesota Academy of Science.

The art of the potter has been the predominant one in all the early ages, said Mr. Walker, and from its universal distribution as a useful and ornamental art it may be considered as a primary and foremost art of the world, both ancient and modern.

"The potter's art led to designing, coloring and illustrating. It was the forerunner of sculpture, decorative architecture and of the art of painting. The sculptor's and painter's art appeals more to the interest and art taste of mankind, yet the more generally applied art of the potter and glass maker has reached more universally through the domestic and art life of the world."

Among the civilized nations the potter's art runs back to 2500 B. C., as shown in the ruins of cities of the Babylonian empire and in Egypt to a date more than 3000 B. C. In the old Egyptian tombs are found glazed pottery as early as 2500 B. C. The old Babylonian clay tablets are perhaps many ages later than the oldest earthenware vessels made for domestic use.

On the old clay tablets were inscribed the records of the temples in the ruins of which they are found.

"I don't remember now, but I suppose I may have said something of the kind."

"And have you forgotten that you assured me that unless I permitted you to claim me as your own the moon would fall from her place in the heavens?"

"Oh, well, what if I did say so? Why do you want to bring that up now?"

"I merely wished to assure you that I'm sorry I didn't shut my eyes and let her fall."

COOK IS FAKIR, ESKIMOS SAY

Explorer's Guides Discredit His Story.

Statements of Two Eskimo Guides Taken by Two Missionaries---Men Declare Cook Swindled Them Out of Their Pay.

Chicago, Ill., November 8.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook was further discredited in a special dispatch to The Chicago Daily News today from its correspondent in Copenhagen, Denmark. The story was the first publication of the report of Knud Rassmussen, the Danish explorer, as sent by him to his wife in Copenhagen and now given out by her.

Contained in the story is what purports to be the statements of Cook's two Eskimo companions in the polar quest, Itukusuk and Apilak, in which they affirm Commander Robert E. Peary's charge that Cook traveled in a circle and never even approached the Pole. Rassmussen in the story is quoted as saying he himself did not interview the men, but that their statements were taken by the Rev. Gustavox Olsen and Kateket Sechmann Rosebach, missionaries, born in Greenland, and at the time of securing the statements, working for the Pole.

The dispatch to The Daily News says:

"Already in 1909 when I was on an expedition to Greenland," writes Rassmussen, "there existed grave doubts as to whether Dr. Cook really had reached the Pole, so I determined to find out from his two Eskimo companions. I secured their statements through the missionaries."

This is the story of the Eskimos, as given in the dispatch:

Story of Eskimo Guides.

"We traveled from Annatook with eight sledges in company with Dr. Cook, at the first sunshine (February). From there to Ellesmere we slept only once on the ice. It took four days to cross Ellesmere land. Eighteen days out our companions left us. We had gone only about twelve English miles from land.

"The ice was fine and there was no reason to stop, for any one who wanted to go on could do so. The nineteenth day Dr. Cook took observations with an instrument he held in his hand, and we then changed our course westward.

We left here a lot of food for men and dogs and one of us (Itukusuk) went ahead to examine the ice. We reported it in good shape, which it was, but Dr. Cook looked at it and said it was bad.

"On the way back we stopped at open water near the land. We stopped one day and went over to Ringnas Island, but the snow had melted (April). We had not had the least fog on the ice. At this time the sun was just below the horizon at night. It was the month when it does not get dark (March). Later, when near Axel Heiberg Land, we passed two days in a fog.

"One day I (Apilak) came upon Dr. Cook sitting down drawing a map. I looked at it and asked him:

Cook Faking His Route.

"'Whose route are you drawing?'

"'My own,' replied Dr. Cook.

"But that was a lie, because he drew the map a long way out at sea, where we never had been.

"We continued to shoot bears on the ice, till we had enough for the dogs. We do not know how many nights we slept on this part of the journey. The small rivers had only begun to break when we reached Hellsgate.

"Here, as Dr. Cook directed us, we left our dogs behind us, although they were fat from the meat of bears. We crossed the great sound and had to push our boat along the ice. Dr. Cook said:

"'We will reach human beings (Baffins Land) within two days.'

"We had slept twice when he looked ahead and said that he saw a tent, but it was only a stone. We kept hunting for human beings a long time. Then we came to an island on which eider birds were nesting. We followed the land past Cape Sparbo, and when our provisions were nearly gone, we returned toward Cape Seddon, where we arranged for wintering.

Started Home at Sight of Sun.

"It was yet twilight the whole night, and we built a house of peat and stone, just as we do at home. We caught walrus, musk ox and bear for the winter. With the bow we killed only two hares. We had a gun to kill musk ox and bear with. To kill a musk ox with a bow is impossible. It was a fine autumn, and we had good provisions for the winter.

"During the dark time we were inside most of the time making clothes. Dr. Cook made clothes and wrote all the time. At first sight of the sun we started home.

"We hushed the sledge ahead of us, and had much target practice at seals until we had only four cartridges left. Not before we were near Annatook did we leave the sledge. The sun then stayed in the sky at night.

"Dr. Cook, during the journey, promised us a good reward; but he proved himself a liar and and swindled us out of payment. We did not get the guns he promised us. Those he sold for fur skins. He gave us only a knife, some matches and a useless boat.

"This is all we, Itukusuk and Apilak, have to tell of our journey with the great Dr. Cook."

To this Rassmussen said:

"I regard the report as absolutely authentic. According to what is known, Dr. Cook said nothing of the Pole while with his two companions, and when he left them and began to tell of 'finding the Pole,' his new companions believed, as they could not conceive a man prevaricating about so great a thing. The map drawn by Itukusuk is remarkably well done."

Rassmussen has also sent his wife a similar report on Peary's trip, says the dispatch to their Chicago paper, purporting to give the tales of Iggangurrak and Ukuark, Peary's companions. This part of the dispatch says Peary prepared for the march by sending ahead men and sledges some time before.

TWO NEGROES SAVED BY CLASSIC KNOWLEDGE

Louisville, Ky., November 8.—Their knowledge of the classics saved Joe Mason and Thruston Irvin, negroes, from receiving penalties for alleged crap-shooting in police court here. When placed on the witness stand both negroes denied they were "rolling the bones," but were on the contrary attending a meeting of the "Bacon Literary Society." Irvin recited yards of Thomas Moore's poetry. While Mason gave sketches from Julius Caesar and Hamlet when brought to the test by Judge Boldrick. The unusual occurrence set the court room in an uproar. The negroes were dismissed, but three other negroes who were not so gifted were fined $5 each.

More Than a Mere Machine

There is a fascination about an automobile that never wears off—a sort of ever-thrilling mystery. While the modern motor car is a machine, every part of which is perfectly easy to understand, yet every motorist will tell you his car is something more than a machine—a half-human thing.

We grow attached to the thing that serves us well—the horseman loves his horse, the engineer loves his engine; the motorist loves his good car, because it is always ready, willing, anxious to do his bidding.

There is something about the purr of the motor that suggests willingness, and there is something about the chug, chug, as it climbs a hill that suggests determination.

The automobile is a man's toy as well as his servant—a toy that is worth a man's time and attention. The driving of one calls forth the finest faculties a man has. It requires concentration, foresight, judgment, courage, initiative and sometimes endurance. The man who drives his own car cannot possibly put a price on the good it does him in the development of these qualities.

The motor car is the most wonderful mechanical thing that man has yet perfected—it is the joy of all who own one, the envy of all who do not.

It is the man who does not own a car that does most all the talking about upkeep expense. After he is an automobile owner you never hear another word—he is getting more than his money's worth in service, pleasure and health.

We want more people to buy motor cars. We would like to sell you a Chalmers, of course, but if, after investigation, you decide against us, we shall still say, "Buy a car—it is a good investment."

What We Are Trying To Do

The desire of the Chalmers Motor Company is to supply genuine motor cars to sell at medium prices—to build cars which will give all the service anyone could ask and sell them at prices within the reach of every prospective buyer.

It has been the aim to build cars that could go as far in a day and get back as surely and safely as any other cars no matter what they cost—to build cars that would be economical and durable through a long period of time.

These aims have been realized to their fullest extent in the Chalmers "Forty" at $2750. There is not a car on the market at any price that enjoys a better reputation in the motoring world than this wonderful car.

We do not ask you to take these statements on faith. All we ask is the benefit of an impartial comparison with other cars. Call at our showrooms and let us demonstrate to you all the sterling qualities of the Chalmers "Forty."

QUEEN WILHELMINA OF HOLLAND WILL RAISE GOATS IN ALABAMA

QUEEN WILHELMINA

According to Francis L. Robbins, president of the Alabama Portland Cement and Coal Company, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is going to raise Angora goats in Alabama. The queen is interested in the company and has suggested that 14,000 acres be set aside for the raising of goats. "Angora goats will be raised on the hillsides of the rough part of our property and hogs and cattle on the other parts not adapted to the raising of corn and tobacco," said President Robbins. "We will pay special attention to the goats, as they are becoming rapidly an article of great value, not only for their pelts, but for their flesh. We have found that thousands of these animals were slaughtered for food in Chicago last year. We will ship our goats to Chicago. In the meantime we will be taking out the coal from under our land and building cement mills at other points."

Importations of chemical unbleached pulp amounted to $5,831,016 and bleached to $3,394,273. This makes the value of the total importations $11,768,014.

Wesson Snowdrift Oil

Has that indefinable something which constitutes "class" and elegance. As a salad dressing, it gives the most distinctive and superior results. As a shortening, it surpasses lard, and adds to your food a pure, healthful vegetable oil instead of indigestible animal fats. For frying it equals the finest Jersey butter, and cooks thoroughly without charging the article with grease.

No matter how you use Wesson Snowdrift Oil, it contributes a piquancy of flavor, a relish to the appetite, and a beneficial, healthful influence which has never been attained in any household article.

It has inspired many imitations, which hope to profit by "over-persuading" the purchaser. Always call especially for Wesson Snowdrift Oil. Made by

70 MEN CAUGHT IN MINE WRECK

Fifty Miners Escape Unharmed.

Disastrous Explosion Occurs in Victor-American Mine Near Trinidad, Colorado ---- Many Miners at Polls at Time of Wreck.

Trinidad, Colo., November 8.—Seventy men are believed to be entombed in mine No. 3 of the Victor-American Fuel Company at Delagua, 22 miles northwest of here, as the result of an explosion this afternoon.

Fifty men came out alive and unharmed through mine No. 2, which is connected with the main mine, No. 3, and, according to reports to the mine officers, they did not even know there had been an explosion in No. 3. If this report is true the explosion which badly caved the entrance to No. 3 did not extend far into the mine, and it is hoped therefore that the men far within the workings are unharmed.

It was at first reported that the mine had caught fire and every available man in the Victor-American Company's employ was hurriedly notified to rush to No. 3 for rescue work. The normal working force of the three mines worked by the company is 275 men, of which a majority are employed in No. 3. But on account of this being election day it is believed the force was much reduced. One report is that five men were killed and four injured at the mouth of the mine when the explosion occurred.

These men, it is believed, were engaged in rebuilding the tipple which was destroyed not long ago.

This disaster follows closely on a similar one in this district that cost the lives of more than fifty men.

HOW GRAPE FRUIT HAS GAINED POPULARITY

Twenty Years Ago Unknown Here, Now Generally Considered Best of Food.

(From The National Magazine.)

Twenty years ago the grape fruit which was introduced into Florida by old Captain Shaddock from the East Indian islands, was hardly known to this country. It was a monstrosity, something pleasing to the eye, but not to the taste. The first two carloads that were shipped from Lakeland to Chicago and purchased from the grower, as a speculation, at a cost of 50 cents a box, against $3.50 a box today, not only did not return the original investment, but cost the buyer $225 in freight. The Chicago people did not want any grape fruit—thank you. Last season more than 900 cars of the fruit, that has been pronounced by recognized connoisseurs the world over as a food fit for the gods, entered the Windy City, bringing from $4 to $9 a box at retail, according to season.

The chief grape fruit counties of the state are, in order, Lee, Manatee, De Soto, Hillsboro, Dade, Orange and Lake. Lee county, with a total of 200,000 boxes last season, and twice the acreage of any other county, probably produces more grape fruit than any other country, although De Soto and Manatee are both close seconds. Lee county has 4,000 acres under cultivation, and the acreage is being increased very rapidly.

TWELVE MEN INJURED BY BOILER EXPLOSION

New York, November 8.—Twelve men are under the care of hospital physicians in Brooklyn today as the result of a boiler explosion shortly before midnight. The men were working on a "dead" boiler in an electric lighting plant near the water front when another boiler 10 feet away exploded, covering them with scalding water and steam.

All the men were knocked down and three of them were rendered unconscious by their injuries. The other nine, frightfully burned, rushed blindly out of the boiler pit, while a squad of volnnteers from among the stokers in an adjoining room went to the rescue of the three who had been left behind. The hospital physicians declared that all twelve of the injured men will recover.

The force of the explosion shook the neighborhood for two blocks around and residents half a mile away heard the report.

DRUGGISTS DINED AT CAPITAL CITY

From oysters to cafe noir, the banquet given last night at the Capital City Club by C. D. Jordan, of Monticello, Ga., in honor of the members of the Georgia board of pharmacy was a most enjoyable occasion. The guests soon discovered that the feast, described in the menu as "Un petit dinner given by a Georgia Cracker," was limited only by the capacities of the respective diners.

In addition to the members of the Georgia board of pharmacy there were present delegates from the boards of pharmacy of Virginia, Tennessee, Florida, Texas, Alabama and other southern states. These delegates will meet at the Kimball house this morning in the third annual convention of the boards of southern pharmacists.

With the cigars and coffee, J. B. Rau, of Macon, the toastmaster of the occasion, called for toasts from a number of those present. Hon. J. M. Terrell, ex-governor of Georgia, was the first to respond and won the applause of the pharmacists by ascribing his political success to the fact that he had started his career as a clerk in a drug store. H. C. Shuptrine, of Savannah, gave an eloquent address, in which he eulogized the host as a man who had done more than anyone else to lift the pharmaceutical profession in Georgia to its present level.

Among the other speakers were: Dr. T. A. Cheatham, of Macon; Dr. W. S. Elkin, Jr., of Atlanta; Max Morris, of Macon; Roland Ellis, of Macon; C. D. Sands, of Nashville, Tenn.; W. M. Meadows, of Macon, and Edward Polhill, of Macon.

Belcher, Mansfield; S. E. Bayne, Macon; H. H. Arrington, Rome; T. E. Miller, Richmond, Va.; O. J. Nance, Jackson, Tenn.; E. Berger, Tampa, Fla.; D. M. Ramsauer, Palatka, Fla.; R. H. NO MORE RECOUNTS EXCEPT FOR FRAUD

Director Durand Makes Announcement Regarding the Census.

Washington, November 8.—No more re-enumerations of populations will be made in connection with the thirteenth census unless on account of fraud. This announcement was made today by Director Durand, of the census bureau. He was speaking of the demand of Baltimore for a recount, but the statement was made as of general as well as of special application.

"We simply must have the aggregate figures by the time congress meets in December," said Mr. Durand. "If we should grant the demand of Baltimore we soon would have similar demands from other cities and would be engaged in a general re-enumeration when we ought to be giving out the information."

OKLAHOMA STANDS BY DRY DOCTRINE

Oklahoma City, Okla., November 9.—Although both sides are claiming victory, reports from 40 counties at midnight give Cruce, democrat, for governor, 22,000, and McNeal, republican nominee, 12,000. Should this ratio continue throughout the state, Cruce will have a plurality of 76,000.

The prohibition issue caused the heaviest vote in the history of the state. Local option probably has been beaten by 15,000 votes. This leaves the prohibition clause in effect, and the whole state remains dry.

J. WARREN KEIFER BEATEN BY THE BUCKEYE VOTERS

Springfield, Ill., November 8.—Returns received from the seventh congressional district indicate that J. Warren Keifer is defeated by J. D. Post, the democratic candidate, by at least 2,200.

Chief Kohler, of the Cleveland police, has a detective who, if reports are true, works by investigation rather than by deduction. It is said that this sleuth, examining a jeweler's window that had been broken, muttered sagely: "Umph! This is more serious than I thought. It's broke on both sides."

A name for the new baby was under discusion, when sudenly 3-year-old Robert, who greatly admired the lady next door, said: "Let's call her Mrs. Brown."

FIGHTING GALE, BIRD-MEN FLY

Baltimore, November 8.—After a morning of ideal aviation weather conditions, some time before the time for the official opening of the aviation meet today high winds began to blow and for a time it looked as though the largest audience that has thus far gathered at the Baltimore aviation field would be disappointed altogether. Throughout the afternoon, too, the wind was provokingly variable, at times blowing at the rate of 27 miles an hour and at others dropping to five.

During a moment of comparative calm one of the flyers would take to the air, only to find upon rising a hundred feet or so that he was fighting a small gale.

Nevertheless, Latham, De Lesseps, Drexel and Hoxsey braved the breeze, some of them more than once, and while they all gave beautiful demonstrations of their command over their aeroplanes none were able to accomplish anything remarkable in altitude, speed nor sustained flights.

LIQUOR SCANDAL IS BEING PROBED

Three Men on Trial in South Carolina.

Two Were Directors of Old Dispensary, and Third Was Agent for a Whisky House. South Carolina Says $133,000 Was Stolen.

Chester, S. C., November 8.—Continuing the arguments left off last night, counsel for the state, in the trial of Jodie M. Rawlinson and John B. Black, directors of the defunct state dispensary, and H. Lee Solomons, formerly agent for whisky houses, all three charged with conspiracy to defraud the state to the extent of more than $133,000, presented various authorities bearing on the question whether or not the books of the defunct dispensary should be admitted in evidence.

Joseph B. Wylie, of Chester, a former director, who turned state's evidence, is still on the stand. The court held the books and other records to be competent in so far as they might bear on the case at bar. Attorney General Lyon read the various awards made on bids at the March 6 and March 22 meetings of the board of directors in 1906. Much bickering among the attorneys marks the trial.

Wylie testified that Black told him they "could make a pot of money" out of the job of dispensary director, for which both were candidates at the time.

While the court was in session the grand jury presented an indictment against the former owners of the Richmond Distilling Company; I. W. Bernheim, of Louisville, Ky.; Isaac Black, of Cincinnati, and Nicholas M. Block and Alexander Block, of Macon, Ga. The indictment charges conspiracy to defraud.

Macon, Ga., November 8.—Nicholas M. Block, who with his brother, Alex Block, has been indicted in connection with the South Carolina state dispensary "frauds," made light of the indictment. He said:

"We will pay no attention to it. Our connection with the dispensary while with the Richland Distilling Company was honorable in every way. We secured all patronage in open and above board competition with other firms, and our business in that connection in the same way as all other orders, private or public. The charges will amount to nothing."

STOP WEARING DOWN!

THE constant strain of hard work, will wear down any woman's strength.

It eats holes in the fabric of her constitution, like the moth gnaws away a woolen blanket until it is nothing but a tattered rag.

You know, well enough, that if you allow the moths to work unmolested in your woolens and furs, it will not be long before it is too late, to repair the damage they have done.

And when you consider how much harder it is to mend the human body, than to darn or patch a blanket, you will surely let us warn you in time, and build up your constitution against the weakening effects of womanly ailments, by taking Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Womanly troubles are not catching, but they develop in nearly every woman, who over-taxes her strength, because womanly organs are generally the weakest part of her body, and illness always begins by attacking the weakest part.

So, no matter what kind of work you do, if you do too much of it, womanly trouble, of one kind or another, is nearly sure to attack you, and you will need Cardui, to relieve or cure it.

Some of the symptoms of womanly trouble are: Pains, of many kinds, especially in the head, back, shoulders, stomach, sides, thighs. Misery of many kinds, difficulty in walking, falling feelings, nervousness, irritability, etc.

For the relief or cure, of any or all of these symptoms, Cardui is recommended, as a pure, harmless, vegetable medicine, acting specifically upon the womanly organs, and regulating your health in a natural and pleasant manner.

"For thirteen years, I suffered with such unbearable pains that I could not walk and most of the time not even stand on my feet," writes Mrs. Lizzie R. Barker, Bud, Ky. "I had headache all the time, and often would faint and fall to the floor. After three doctors had failed to help me, my husband persuaded me to give Cardui a trial. I did, and found the greatest relief. I can do all my housework now, and it is not a hard task, but a pleasure. I recommend Cardui to all suffering women." It is sold by all druggists.

COLORED FAIR OPENS AT MACON

Good Exhibits Showing What Negro Has Accomplished.

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) The fourth colored state fair will be opened at Central City Park, Macon, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Unless all signs fail it will be largely attended. The officials of the fair have sent out their advertising agents to every cross road, town and hamlet in the state.

R. R. Wright, the president, has set up a new standard. He is not only preaching the same industrial doctrine as Booker Washington, but he goes a step further, by showing through exhibits placed in the industrial halls what the negro is doing along agricultural and domestic lines.

History of Fat Reduction

Here is a bit of history published for the benefit of the overfat. For many years there has been published in the daily press throughout the country a home-prepared recipe for overfatness—the now famous Marmola Prescription of an eminent physician. No doubt you have seen it, noticed it casually and decided that when you had the time you would try for yourself the merits of this mixture. Many have successfully used this harmless remedy to their everlasting joy and benefit to health. The same great physician has condensed his famous Prescription into convenient tablet form, so that you have only to take after meals and at bedtime a remarkably pleasant little tablet containing all the effective, pure, harmless ingredients of the original prescription. The pound-a-day reduction to your normal self comes without dieting, self-denial or exercise, and leaves no wrinkles or flabbiness. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Marmola Co., 287 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich. The price is 75c for a large case—a generous supply.

BAPTIST UNION OPENS IN DAWSON

Over 300 Delegates in Attendance—Mrs. Willingham Presides.

Dawson, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) Delegates to the Women's Baptist Missionary Union filled three special coaches of the Central of Georgia railway train this afternoon. Many others arrived over the Seaboard. Three hundred are now here, and others are expected tomorrow, homes having been secured for 360 delegates.

The opening session of the convention was held in the Baptist church at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. E. G. Willingham, of Atlanta, presided, and Mrs. Emma L. Amos, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer. The main business of the evening was the enrollment of delegates, followed by devotional exercises, and an informal reception. The welcoming addresses and responses will be made Wednesday morning.

DIRT BROKEN FOR ROAD.

Wrightsville, Adrian and Lyons to Be Connected by Rails.

Swainsboro, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—Dirt has been broken on the Wrightsville, Adrian and Lyons railroad. This means another road added to the numerous roads which touch Emanuel county. At the point where the road will cross the Ohoopee river, the piling has been driven and the lumber placed on the ground, and it is the purpose of those in charge to have the bridge erected by the time the grading of th right-of-way is completed to that point.

That this road will be built is now an assured fact, since the railroad commission has authorized the company to issue a million dollars in stock and a million dollars in bonds.

With the completion of this road, Adrian will be given a new impetus.

ANOTHER BLACK PAYS PENALTY

John Walker Also Strung Up for Murder of Officer Bush.

Oglethorpe, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—The mob which strung up Will Barnes to a telephone pole near Flint river late last night came on to this place a few hours later, stormed the jail, removed John Walker, a negro who was jointly accused of the murder of Policeman Charlie Bush, of Montezuma, and lynched him to the same pole on which the lifeless form of Barnes dangled.

The coroner's inquest this morning rendered a verdict that the negroes had come to their death by pistol shots at the hands of unknown parties.

Marshal Bush was killed about 4 o'clock in the morning five weeks ago last Sunday. He had gone to the house to arrest the negroes, who had been gambling and had become involved in a free fight over the winnings.

Barnes' arrest was perfected yesterday by the assistance of William Jones, colored, of Powersville. The fugitive had gone to Jones' barnyard at an early hour and started a fire. Jones went to investigate and Barnes confided his story to him. The fugitive begged for something to eat, and Jones carried him to his house.

Under the guise that he was leaving for Macon, Jones went for assistance to make the arrest. Thomas Brown, a prominent citizens of Powersville, went with Jones and made the arrest, Barnes making no attempt at resistance. The negro was hurried to Montezuma and then on to the jail at Oglethorpe, where the negroes identified him as the negro who had done the shooting.

He was then taken back to Montezuma calaboose and later made a full confession of the killing, but stated to local citizens that Walker had taken part in the murder also. His statement in this is borne out by the fact that two different size bulelts had pierced the body of the dead marshal. Barnes had made the same statements to the family of Jones and also to Mr. Brown after he had been arrested.

The negro stated that he killed the marshal with Bush's own gun and that it was done after the arrest had been made. Barnes said that as he and the marshal started out of the house, he tripped Mr. Bush, and having thrown him down, took the officer's pistol and shot him with it.

The city council met this morning and awarded the capturers of the negroes $350.

FORMER GUARD CHARGED WITH FORGING LETTER

Said to Have Signed Convict's Name to Letter of Complaint to the Commission.

Valdosta, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—A white man named Stevens, formerly a convict guard on the county chaingang, was lodged in jail yesterday on the charge of having forged the name of a negro convict to a letter to the prison commission reflecting on Warden Murray, superintendent of roads and bridges.

It is alleged that Guard Stevens has recently had some differences with Warden Murray. John Wilson, the convict involved in the case, some time ago made his escape from the gang, but was later recaptured. Soon afterwards the prison commission received a letter, purporting to have been signed by the convict, in which it was stated that Warden Murray had allowed the man to escape for a money consideration.

While the evidence against Stevens has not been made known, the county commissioners are said to regard it as very strong. A thorough investigation is being made, and Stevens will remain in jail here until the case is heard in the superior court, which meets next week.

Improvements for G. S. & F.

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) Officials of the Georgia Southern and Florida railway line are engaged in vast improvements for the business of their line. This consists of about twelve large locomotives and a large number of freight cars.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-All, Nor a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this, and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, giving refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cts. per package.

FOWLER ON TRIAL IN BARTOW COURT

Much Interest Centered in Aged Defendant's Story.

Cartersville, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—Surrounded by his wife and six children, W. M. Fowler, an aged white man of this county, faced a jury in the Bartow superior court at 10 o'clock this morning to answer the charge of murder, his alleged victim being A. N. Phillips, of Alabama. Much interest centered upon the aged man as he answered "not guilty" to the charge.

The prosecution was conducted by Solicitor T. C. Milner, of the Cherokee circuit, assisted by W. A. Milner and George H. Aubrey. Mr. Aubrey was employed by B. T. Phillips, of the Consolidated Motor Car Company, of Atlanta, a brother of the dead man. The defense was represented by Sam P. Maddox, of Dalton, and W. M. Graham, of this city.

Witnesses were introduced by the state to show that Fowler shot and killed young Phillips 12 miles from this city the latter part of last August, and after the old man had brought his victim to the ground with a load from his shotgun, he reloaded the weapon and again approached the fallen man, emptying both barrels of the gun into Phillips' head.

Upon Colonel Milner resting the case for the state, the defense made an effort to prove by several witnesses that Phillips had beaten, cursed and otherwise abused Fowler. A fight took place at the court ground near the scene of the killing the evening before that bloody affair, in which it is said that Fowler came off second best. Evidence was introduced by the defense to establish the fact that Phillips had used some ugly language concerning the wife and daughter of Fowler.

All of the witnesses were questioned regarding the mentality of Fowler, his children and his mother, seeking to establish a plea of insanity. An expert was placed upon the stand to testify regarding mental questions.

The statement of Fowler was an interesting incident of the trial. He told in a trembling voice of the alleged abuse that had been heaped upon him by Phillips and of how he feared the younger man. With deep emotion he told of several revolting remarks that the dead man was said to have made regarding his loved ones.

Arguments were completed tonight.

After shooting Phillips, the old man sought to escape, and in his wild flight reached the borders of Cherokee county, to which point he was pursued by four men of this county, who tried to capture him. All of these men were wounded by Fowler. This shooting did not occur in this county, and for that reason it was not mentioned at the trial today.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

that is just exactly what Mr. Green wanted.

DIDIT PAY? OF COURSE IT DID.

He wanted several millions of people to be reminded again of the word "UNEEDA," and he succeeded. HE NEVER WANTS THE PEOPLE TO FORGET.

IT IS THE CONSTANT REMINDER THAT IS NECESSARY IN ADVERTISING a specialized article. The people must never be allowed to forget it.

A little girl on a ferryboat pointed out a big sign along the river front and she said:

"Mamma, look at that big Uneeda Biscuit sign; you see that everywhere, don't you?"

THAT'S ADVERTISING THAT IMPRESSES—that drives home the name.

But by contrast with the little girl, a manufacturer, anxious to advertise, saw a sign man about doing some special sign advertising. In talking over different signs—effective ones—the sign man said to the manufacturer, "How do you like the Uneeda signs?"

"What are they?" asked the manufacturer. "I never saw a Uneeda sign and I have never heard of Uneeda. What is it?"

THAT'S THE REASON COL. GREEN KEEPS ON ADVERTISING UNEEDA.

That's the reason everybody else that advertises KEEPS ON ADVERTISING.

There are new minds to convince all of the time.

(To Be Continued.)

Black Slays Patrolman.

Birmingham, Ala., November 8.—W. C. Wallace, a patrolman, was shot and instantly killed shortly after noon today by a negro whom he had just placed under arrest. The negro made his escape and is now sought by policemen and deputy sheriffs.

$500 AN ACRE REFUSED FOR BIG PECAN ORCHARD

Western Man Refuses a Fancy Price for 27 Acres Thomas County Land.

Thomasville, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—$500 an acre was the price recently offered for 27 acres of Thomas county land and it was refused, too.

This land, which is the property of a western man, is set out in 4-year-old pecan trees, which, of course, greatly adds to its value, but even ordinary land is selling at greatly advanced prices and in a deal made last week $35 an acre was given for just common Thomas county land, such as sold twenty years ago for a few dollars an acre.

The pecan industry all through this section is progressing by leaps and bounds and any sort of old land with a good crop of young pecan trees on it commands a large price.

At the meeting last week in Monticello, Fla., of the National Nut Growers' Association, is was shown that, the pecan was easily leading all other nuts in the market and the demand for them was far ahead of the supply.

It's funny to see a Roosevelt man trying to swing a big stick with one hand with written instructions in the other.

Even if Prices don't suit you, now that the Proclamation is out, all good American citizens are expected to give thanks.

Our eminent astronomers object to studying the stars. They do not like the business well enough to freeze to it.

We shall reserve a few opinions on "greatness" until we meet a man who has won a medal for knocking down a robber tariff.

Of course all the "Roosevelt Men" "stood out." Had to—while trying to do the balancing act on a big stick, in a whirlwind of hot air.

It is not too late to talk high tariff in the family circles. You'll have to hold it responsible for scarcity of cash in the early shopping season.

As soon as Peary was ordered back to work, somebody started another North Pole controversy, and they may have to give him another opportunity to explain some more explanations.

TARIFF AND TAFT REPUDIATED.

The country has repudiated the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and its creators. It has dealt political broken faith a sledge-hammer blow!

That is the significance of the elections of yesterday.

Regardless of locality, the tariff enacted at the extra session of congress was the test-issue to which all other issues were subordinated.

In almost every state and congressional district the question presented to the voter was—

Approval or disapproval of the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

The verdict is unmistakable. It is overwhelming!

The Payne-Aldrich tariff is branded with national and non-partisan disapproval. Inevitably, the republican administration, party to its enactment, is repudiated and the leadership of President Taft hopelessly discredited.

The elections of yesterday must be classed as in all respects among the most remarkable in the nation's political history.

Ancient party alignment counted for almost nothing. Principles and moral issues counted for everything.

In not one contest, however trivial, can either party, or the wing of either party, lay its victory or its defeat to the written creeds that have distinguished democracy and republicanism for half a century.

For the issue was made, the line drawn, by the people themselves! Party labels and political traditions were practically negligible.

For one of the few times in our history the battle was fought upon broad and common moralities, with the conventional appeals to "party loyalty" falling on ears that were unheeding.

To that extent, the result marks an epoch and records a prophecy. It marks the opening of an epoch in which the test of party loyalty is common honesty. And it forecasts the early dissolution of party alignments as at present constituted, and a readjustment on the basis of truth and conviction.

The specific meaning of the election is no less unequivocal.

Whether justly or otherwise, the people of America have laid the exorbitant cost of living at the doors of the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

Not the most specious pleas of the stand-pat republican contingent could change this attitude. Nor could the most ingenious promises by President Taft and his advisers of a further and bona fide revision wipe out memory of the broken faith that created the obnoxious law now prevailing.

The republican party—or the dominant element going by the name of "stand-patters"—seemed to have the ear of the president, and it worked its old confidence game once too often.

The country could not be fooled all the time. At the showdown, it came to its senses and revolted. The result is written in a scathing rebuke to political dissimulation, the effects of which will be visible for many years in American politics.

For directly back of the repudiation of the administration was the broken promise of genuine tariff revision held out in the Chicago platform of the republican party.

Upon that plea, as so clearly stated elsewhere in an extract from a speech by John A. Dix, of New York, the country entrusted the republican party with the power to execute the national will.

The republican party neither fufilled its pledge nor obeyed the national mandate given as the result of that pledge.

And the fate it met yesterday at the polls indicates that the people regard breach of faith in a party as no more excusable than breach of faith in an individual.

A new era in politics, this!

President Taft is swallowed up in the condemnation. He will not lead his party again at the polls. If, through the dictates of folly, he does—it will be to inevitable defeat.

For, when the crisis had narrowed so that redemption or betrayal lay in his hands—he did not rise equal to the occasion! His veto of the tariff law that violated the promise of his party, and his insistence upon genuine revision, would have held his party intact. At least, it would have saved him from being engulfed in the disaster of yesterday.

He flinched from the test; shuffled and compromised! Therefore, the extent to which he shares in the repudiation of yesterday is measured by the depth of the national conviction that it is at his door that ultimate responsibility lies. There is an element of pathos in the early rejection of a man in many respects so likable, so worthy of admiration. Yet his fate will not be without profit, if it emphasizes the stern warning that the same rule of honesty must apply in political as in private life.

The Constitution does not profess to say where the events of yesterday leave Colonel Roosevelt. Of this we are sure: They are in no wise to be construed as a rebuke or repudiation of him, personally. The tidal wave that submerged New York was not peculiar to that state or to Roosevelt and his influence. The storm signals were first hoisted in Iowa and Kansas. And the hurricane wrought its greatest and most unexpected fury in the state of Maine, before Roosevelt got under headway. New York simply did not escape the universal disaster. That even the powerful personality of Roosevelt was unavailing to save his own state is an indication, not of his weakness, but of the rottenness of party conditions for which he was in no wise responsible.

It is easier to prefigure the effects upon the democratic party. The republican defeat of yesterday means, in all likelihood, the election of a democratic president two years hence. That is, of course, contingent upon democracy's ability to steer clear of habitual folly. If it seeks to deal otherwise than broadly and in a non-partisan manner with a large and difficult situation, the country will look to some other agency to complete the task of rehabilitation it began yesterday.

The first act in a political drama that must be far-reaching and at present unfathomable has been enacted. What next will follow the rising of the curtain, depends more upon democratic strength than upon republican weakness.

P. J. A. BERCKMANS—BUILDER.

Prosper J. A. Berckmans, native of Belgium, adopted and long-time citizen of Georgia, and one of the world's foremost horticulturists, entomologists and pomologists, is dead at his home in Augusta.

How science that is civilization-wide and that knows no boundaries of language and no test save those of achievement regarded him is shown by this list of high offices he held at various times during his career, stretching to the day of his death:

President of the National Pomological Society, vice president of the International Pomological Society, with headquarters in Paris; president of the Georgia Horticultural Society, and the Georgia Entomological Society, and a member or officer in every similar organization of note in this country and many abroad.

In P. J. A. Berckmans was no parade, no ostentation, none of that thing for the limelight so prevalent among the doers even of little things today.

He wrought great things for and made large and beneficent discoveries in the sciences of those kindly fruits of the earth upon which human health, happiness and prosperity so largely depend. Yet for all the praise he claimed for himself or allowed others to bestow upon him, one would never have imagined he had won world-wide distinction.

He was a master-builder in his especial craft. For years after he is dead the benefits he has wrought for this state and for the science of horticulture generally will confer larger good upon humanity than the shallow twinklings of many politicians and statesmen who made more show than he did, and who in their day were regarded—great.

THE FARMERS OF ATLANTA.

A few years ago a citizen wrote the postmaster of New York asking what crops were raised in that city. The postmaster replied facetiously that farms and farmers were confined to the open country, and that there were no farming operations carried on in the biggest city of the United States.

Later on the same postmaster was confronted with statistics showing that within the limits of Greater New York crops ranging from honey to corn, and from wheat to grapes, were grown.

The man who imagines there are no farmers in Atlanta had a surprising revelation in the showing made last night at the Chamber of Commerce dinner.

Some 100 Atlanta business men own 50,000 acres of farm property.

Some 100 city merchants and lawyers and professional men of Atlanta own and cultivate land in forty or more Georgia counties.

Thousands and hundreds of thousands of fertile acres are owned by Atlanta citizens who are not members of the chamber.

The head of the Georgia School of Technology, Dr. K. G. Matheson, is the owner of 5,000 acres of land. He is a practical farmer. So are Judge Andy Calhoun, former Governor Joseph M. Terrell, Mayor Maddox, Governor Joseph M. Brown, H. G. Hastings, C. J. Haden, John K. Ottley, George Harrison, Harry Fisher, H. C. Bagley, Albert Howell, Jr., and a host of others who might be named.

Within sight of the state capitol are several thousands of acres of cultivated land owned by citizens of Atlanta.

Any measure affecting the farming interests of Georgia may count upon the enthusiastic support of farmer-lawyers, farmer-judges, farmer-teachers and farmer-merchants of Atlanta.

Whatever helps the farming interests of Georgia and the southeast helps Atlanta. Whatever injures them, hurts Atlanta in direct ratio.

The demonstration made by Atlanta farmers at the Chamber of Commerce dinner last night was electrical in its effect. Its influence will be widespread.

Georgia farm lands will everywhere feel the stimulus of this effective bit of advertising, for it means that here in Atlanta there is a market for farm property.

As the farms of the state grow in richness and productivity, Atlanta's business increases; more farm implements are sold, more seed, more dry goods, more insurance, more automobiles.

That is but poor progress where the city grows at the expense of the country.

Enduring prosperity comes with the steady growth of both city and country.

To this desirable result Atlanta's business men are contributing nobly.

I like to go to meetin'
When the moon is out;
An' hear the singin' an' th' pray'rs,
An' hear the mo'rners shout.

II.
I like to set in meetin'
On the last bench, middle row,
With the moonlight fallin' on my back
Thro' the open do'.

III.
An' on crowded nights at meetin'
I somehow like ter feel
That they's somebody behind me
A-standin', tall an' still.

IV.
An' sometimes, at meetin',
With my hand back in th' light,
I draps my fan or handkerchief
(As anybody might).

V.
An', of course, even in meetin'
I turns ter see it fall,
An' I look right inter two gray eyes
An' see no fan at all.

VI.
An' then (b'cause it's meetin',)
I bows my head, real meek,
But in the shadder I can feel
The red upon my cheek.

VII.
An' then, right low, 'cause it's meetin',
I thanks him, then I smile,
An' try to listen at the pray'rs
An' look straight up the aisle.

VIII.
But, when I git back from meetin',
An' paw asts what they talked about
I kinder smile an' say ter him:
"I went ter hear 'em shout!"

OLD FERRIES GOING.

Boat to Brooklyn and 23d St. Soon to Be Discontinued.

(From The New York Herald.)

Following the announcement by the Pennsylvania railroad that its annex ferry service between Brooklyn and Jersey City will be discontinued after November 27, additional announcement was made yesterday that its Twenty-third street ferry is to be discontinued on the same date. To some persons the Brooklyn ferry was historic, while to others the Twenty-third street ferry was the gateway of the road to Washington and the south.

Within the last ten years practically every president, dignitary from abroad, or prince of the Orient, who has come from Washington to New York, has arrived by way of the Twenty-third street ferry. Standing on upper decks or in the seclusion of their closed carriages, these worthies and notables were viewed by hundreds, many of whom went especially to Jersey City for the purpose of making the return voyage with the celebrities, and inspecting them at close range.

It is believed that regret for the passing of the convenient old ferries will be a long time dying. Pennsylvania passengers who formerly rode by the Twenty-third street ferry will be carried direct by tunnel to the Pennsylvania station at Thirty-second street. To those who used to use the annex boats there is now offered the alternative of the ride to the Pennsylvania station, continuing to Brooklyn by way of the company's tubes through Long Island City. Modern and expeditious travel, but not romantic at all.

An Agricultural Story.

(From an Exchange.)

Talking of things American, a correspondent forwards a remarkable agricultural item from The Los Angeles Standard. It should interest all our farmers:

"The horrible news comes from Kansas that a boy climbed a cornstalk to see how the corn was getting along, and now the stalk is growing up faster than the boy can climb down. The boy is 'plumb out of sight.' Three men have undertaken to cut down the stalk with axes and save the boy from starvation; but it grows so fast that they can't hit twice in the same place. The boy is living on nothing but raw corn, and has already thrown down a bushel of cobs."

ATLANTA MAY TO SING FOR CHILDREN TODAY

Her First Recital at Cable Hall Monday Night Was Much Enjoyed.

"Atlanta May," otherwise known as Miss Brannan, will sing to the children of Atlanta in Taft hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The admission will be free.

Miss Brannan made a distinctly favorable impression upon the music lovers of the city by her musical debut on Monday evening in Cable hall. The audience was not a large one, but everyone present was thoroughly in sympathy with the singer, and it was not long before she had clearly established the fact that she was a singer of rare promise.

She has a voice of wonderful clearness and sweetness. In addition, she possesses a certain magnetism that holds her audience.

THE ISSUE AS STATED

By Dix of New York

It is doubtful if, in the entire range of the campaign which has just come to a climax, the bed-rock issue was more clearly stated than by John A. Dix, the successful democratic nominee for governor in New York.

The following summary is taken from a speech he delivered in the closing days of the canvass at Troy, N. Y.

It epitomizes the grounds upon which the battle was fought and won in practically every contest decided in the elections throughout the county.

The Home Issue.

"This campaign has been a most unusual one. Ordinarily the members of a party feel in a state fight, that they are fighting for principle and that, personally, they have no interest which goes home to them directly. In this campaign, on the contrary, not only have we an opportunity of again making clear to the whole world that our institutions must be preserved and our liberty maintained, but we have also the chance to strike a blow for ourselves and help to put an end to the infamous system of overtaxation, which has become a burden through the exactions of the Payne-Aldrich bill and the extravagance of the national and state governments.

"Under the load of taxation imposed upon us by the recently revised republican tariff we have reached a point where even our opponents realize that conditions must be changed. They now suggest that there should be a new revision, thereby admitting the failure of the one so recently made by them, and they ask that the opportunity of revising the tariff should be again intrusted to them.

"I would remind you that in the last national campaign they were intrusted with power only because of their expressed and explicit promise to give the people a downward revision of the tariff, and they have absolutely failed to make such a revision.

"They have squarely broken the promise upon which they retained power. The Payne-Aldrich bill represents neither a downward nor an honest revision of the tariff, and it is a revision which is satisfactory only to the special interests of the country. It has disregarded and ignored the rights of the consumer—the great mass of the people of the country—and instead of relieving the people from taxation it has added additional burdens to their shoulders.

"This must be all changed, and it can only be changed by taking the power out of the hands of those who have broken their promises and have been recreant in their trust, and placing it in the hands of those who represent the sufferers from the exactions of the tariff rather than those of its beneficiaries. In other words, the democratic party in this country is the only party which can be intrusted to make an honest and downward revision of the tariff.

"Our opponents have had their opportunity and have misused it. They have been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

To Apply the Cure.

"This question, my friends, is one which goes home directly to every household in this land. We have reached a point where the income of the average man is scarcely sufficient to purchase the bare necessaries of life. He can no longer set aside a reasonable portion of his income for provision against sickness or old age. The burden of taxation has become all too heavy to be longer borne, and we must return again to a policy of reform and retrenchment which will confine the expenditures of government to the lowest point to which they can be reduced by honest, efficient and economical administration.

"There should be a revision of the tariff, and this time it must be both an honest and a downward revision—a revision which will remove much of the load of taxation which has been placed upon the people—and a revision which will be along the lines of the old-fashioned democratic doctrine of equal rights for all and special privilegs for none.

"Such a revision, in my opinion, can and should be made, and it should be made in a way which will protect the rights of the American workingman and not destroy or disturb any of the great industries of the country.

"In this state we are suffering from the expenditure of too much money by the government. Neither the population nor the wealth of the state has increased at all in proportion to the increased cost of government in the last ten years. We have found of late that every time the probe of investigation has been inserted new evidence of extravagance, waste and corruption has been found. There must be an end to this if we are to protect either the reputation of the state or the interests of the people.

"The way to end it once for all is to have a thorough house-cleaning of the state, to put out of office those who have been faithless to their trust, and to place the democratic party in position to work out successfully problems of economical, efficient and progressive government to which it is committed by the admirable platform adopted at the Rochester convention.

"Do your full share in this work by electing the democratic ticket. Intrust them with the government of this state, and I pledge you, in the name of my associates and myself, that we shall be faithful to the trust."

The Atlanta alumni of Princeton university organized themselves into the Princeton Club of Atlanta yesterday morning; and one of the first official acts that the new club will undertake will be the making of suitable plans for the entertainment of Woodrow Wilson, Howell G. Murray and James W. Alexander, when they visit Atlanta. The visitors are expected during the latter part of November. The Princeton Glee Club will also be entertained by the new club when the college singers visit the city during the holidays.

At the meeting held in the office of R. H. Kimball, 509 Gould building, the following officers of the temporary organization were elected:

Samuel M. Inman, president; Paul W. Pope, vice president; Rollin H. Kimball, secretary; Brutus J. Clay, George H. Boynton and Robert H. Jones, Jr., executive committee.

Permanent organization will be effected later.

200 CONVICTS ASK FOR THEIR FREEDOM

"Hardly Know Where to Start In," Says Chairman Davison.

After reorganizing the force of convict supervisors and inspectors Monday, when the number was reduced from ten to six, the prison commission will spend the remainder of the week in hearing applications for pardon which have been filed by inmates of the state penitentiary.

The commission has before it nearly 200 such applications and it is proposed to act upon as many of them as is possible during the present session.

"In the rush of other business the number of applications has accumulated until we have so many of them we hardly know how to start in," said Chairman R. E. Davison Tuesday. "We are going right to work on them Wednesday morning and expect to take some action on all of them within the next few days."

WHO IS KEEPING TIME WITH WELDON'S WATCH

Good Roads Expert Would Like to Know Who Telephoned His Home.

Who telephoned Frank Weldon's residence last week and asked if he had lost a watch?

Someone made the inquiry, and learning that Mr. Weldon was not at home, said that he would call up later. Frank is still waiting for that call. He lost his watch either in Lawrenceville or on the public road near there, the day the Round-the-State tourists came into Atlanta.

The watch, which was presented to him by the superintendents and exhibitors at the state fair in 1908, has his name in the back. He is offering a reward for a repetition of the call, as well as for the recovery of the watch.

UNVEILING PLANS WARMLY INDORSED

Atlantans Pledge Aid to Gate City Guard.

At Booster Dinner of Chamber of Commerce Speech of Capt. Burke, Telling of Arrangements for Unveiling of Monument, Heartily Cheered.

Greeting with storms of applause the speech of Colonel J. F. Burke, in which he told of the intention of scores of the oldest and best-known military organizations in the country to come to Atlanta next fall, enthusiastically indorsing every move the colonel has made in his efforts to have these organizations present at the unveiling of the monument which the Gate City Guards are to erect at Piedmont park, and unanimously adopting a resolution promising the visitors a reception and a welcome of the kind that has made southern hospitality famous the world over, 600 of Atlanta's most prominent business men gathered at the Chamber of Commerce dinner at Taft hall last night and pledged themselves to do everything in their power, individually and as a body, to make the unveiling of the Gate City Guards monument the most noteworthy event of its kind the south ever witnessed.

Dinner a Record One.

Colonel Burke's talk was the first of many made at the dinner, which proved to be easily the largest in point of attendance, as well as the most representative of the city, Atlanta ever saw. There were present the men who have "done things" for Atlanta—the men who have made the city what she is today, and men who are planning even greater things for the future.

And, as Colonel Burke talked, these men sat, all attention, save for an occasional burst of applause, and at the finish, unanimously indorsed not only Colonel Burke's plan, but his work as being worthy of the great things which are bound to come therefrom.

In telling of the beginning of the movement which is to culminate in the erection of a handsome monument here to the men who fought around the city during the 60's, as well as to the old Gate City Guards, Colonel Burke said that, in the gloom of the reconstruction period, when Atlanta presented a sad picture of devastation, and the people of the south were suffering from legislation more humiliating than the defeat which had been bought at the price of so much blood, when legislatures were disbanded, business bankrupted, and society disorganized—then it was that he suggested to the members of the old Gate City Guards that the company make a trip through the north.

To Heal the Wounds.

As this organization was the first to depart from Atlanta to join the Confederate forces to uphold the sovereignty of the states, Colonel Burke thought that it would do much to heal the wounds the war had left if the company would make a tour of the northern and eastern states on a mission of peace, holding sacred the memories of the war, but offering the hand of fraternal fellowship to the south's former adversaries. Even at this time, Colonel Burke stated, he was looking forward to a peaceful reunion of the people who were sectionally estranged, and an early recovery from the war's disaster.

The members of the Gite City Guards, said Colonel Burke, unanimously approved the suggestion, and at once began preparations for this unique and patriotic tour. Many friends of the company objected to the trip, urging that the old scars of the war were yet sore, that the time was not sufficiently remote from the late struggle, that political and sectional feeling was too intense, predicting that the sincerity of the company's motives would be questioned, misrepresented, and misunderstood, and that the company would return humiliated by its failure to accomplish its most laudable purpose.

For Reunited Country.

Continuing, Colonel Burke showed how the company, acting upon the advice of other friends, and encouraged by the sincerity and patriotism of its own motives, determined to enter the territory of its former adversaries, taking with it the flag of the union, under which it hoped for a brighter and greater and more prosperous country, reunited.

The speaker then told of the day of the company's departure, drawing a vivid picture of the crowds which thronged the depot, of the cheers which rent the air as the train bearing them pulled out, and of the many Godspeeds wich followed them on their journey. He said that he could not take the time to recount the reception tendered the company in every city it visited. To attempt a recital of the attentions which were showered upon the company during the trip, he said, would fill a volume. There were banquets, parades, private and public receptions, and many other forms of entertainment participated in by the military, by civic organizations, Grand Army posts and the people generally. The trip, he said, was one continuous ovation.

In conclusion, the speaker showed how fresh in the minds of the north this visit of a southern company still lives. They have never, he said, ceased to talk and think of this event as the beginning of the new era which the war ushered in, and as a result, thousands of residents of the cities the company visited are now planning to come to Atlanta next fall when the company unveils the monument which is to be erected here.

Visit Still Fresh in Mind.

In closing, Colonel Burke said:

"A generation has passed and that peaceful visit is still fresh in the memories of those of our northern friends who are still in life. The sentiment of it has grown deeper in the recollections of all those who participated in it, and now the old Gate City Guards are going to erect a handsome monument to all those who so generously indorsed it—and now, in our day of prosperity, when tall buildings have supplanted the broken walls and blackened chimneys of those gloomy days of devastation.

"Now, when our city has grown from nine thousand population at the outbreak of the civil war to one hundred and fifty-five thousand by the last census—now, in our day of prosperity, we have invited our northern friends to come to Atlanta to break bread with us and to unveil their monument that will transmit to future generations the magnanimous spirit of our Atlanta people, who in those days of our misfortune went forth to hide the scars of the war and heal the nation's wounds, and to show posterity how magnanimously our northern friends indorsed our peaceful effort and who are coming here to ratify the indorsement they so generously bestowed thirty-two years ago.

"It will be a fitting tribute to them placed here in this bullet-strewn city to speak to those who come after us the story of how we 'quarrelled and made up.'"

After Colonel Burke's talk, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, That we send our warmest greeting to all our friends in northern cities, both civic and military who have been invited to attend the dedication of the monument to be erected by the old Gate City Guards, and their friends in this city, in October 1911; and we assure them that a generous, old-time southern welcome awaits them from the members of this chamber and our citizens;

"Resolved, further, That a copy of this resolution be sent by the secretary of this chamber to all who have been invited by Colonel J. F. Burke, commander the old Gate City Guards."

POCKET PICKED, KEHR TOOK POISON

Strolled Leisurely to the Hospital and Waited.

Sat 20 Minutes Before Questioned, Then Replied: "I've Taken Paris Green"—Robbed of Money That Was to Have Taken Him Home to Wife.

Robbed by pickpockets of the money that would carry him back to his wife in Brooklyn, N. Y., and left penniless and without a friend in Atlanta, Charles Kehr, aged 35 years, decided to end his troubles yesterday morning by taking paris green.

But although he swallowed four drams of the "tater bug killer," Kehr is still alive in the Grady hospital, and the chances are that he will recover. He owes his life to Dr. Hancock, of the Atlanta hospital, and the fact that he took the poison on a full stomach.

Tuesday morning Kehr, who for the past three months had been working at Hales Bar, Tenn., found himself stranded in Atlanta with just enough cash for a breakfast and a little over. With the surplus he bought the poison and took it about 8:30 o'clock.

Walked Slowly to Hospital.

Two hours and a half later Kehr found himself still conscious and alive and made his way leisurely to the Atlanta hospital, in Cone street. He sat in the reception room for fully twenty minutes before being noticed.

Finally Dr. Hancock noticed the stranger and questioned him.

"I have taken paris green, doctor, because I am tired of life," he said, "but it hasn't had any effect. I swallowed four drams of it over two hours ago."

As he spoke Kehr began to grow pale and in a second he was on the operating table with a stomach pump down his throat. Before lapsing into unconsciousness Kehr gave his name and address as 225-A Palmetto street, Brooklyn.

After receiving the necessary attention the despondent man was removed to the Grady hospital and will be cared for there. While still in a serious condition, he may live, as the poison was first absorbed with his breakfast.

The Note He Left.

"My name is Charles Kehr. I belong in Brooklyn, N. Y., and have a wife and friends living there. I have been working in Hales Bar, Tenn., for three months. I had some money and intended to go home again by way of Savannah, but missed my train and was touched for what I had in the street.

"I have been going under the name of Charles Kramer since I have been in the south. I am not a bad man, but have had bad luck in my life. God forgive me for what I have done, for I see no other way. So goodby to all. My last thoughts are of my wife—God bless her.

"My wife lives at 42 or 46 Tompkin avenue, near Park avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., at L. Young or Lydia Ruhman's, or please tell F. W. Locke, of 225-A Palmetto street, Brooklyn, or Prudential Insurance Company, Broadway, corner Greene, in Brooklyn."

The note was written on a foreman's report blank of Jacobs & Davies, construction engineers, Hales Bar, Tenn.

FAIR ASSOCIATION PLANS MANY EXHIBITS

Thomas County Farmers Won Several Prizes at Macon.

Thomasville, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—From the number of entries which have already come in it looks as if the Thomas County Farmers' fair, to be held here on the 10 and 11, will be a great success. The railroads have all put on cheap rates from the surrounding towns and a large crowd is expected. Speeches will be made by Commissioner of Agriculture Hudson, Congressman S. A. Roddenbery and other prominent men.

F. M. Carter, of Merrillville, in this county, carried off the prize at the state fair at Macon for the largest yield of corn, Mr. Carter making, it is stated, 195 bushels to the acre, which is undoubtedly some corn. His exhibit and a number of others will be on hand here.

Thomas county fowls also carried off the prizes at the Brooks county fair and the poultry exhibit at the fair here is expected to be one of the finest ever seen.

SONS OF SCOTLAND RALLY AT AUDITORIUM THURSDAY

Famous Scottish airs, rollicking with melody from the Highlands and plaintive with the love songs of the land made famous in the realm of poetry by Bobbie Burns, will form the program for the Thursday night organ concert this week at the Auditorium-Armory.

It will be "Scottish night" and a program to suit that title has been arranged by Dr. Percy J. Starnes, city organist, acting in accord with the program committee of the Atlanta Music Festival Association. Members of the Atlanta Burns Club are especially urged to attend, as are all Atlantans of Scotch descent.

Prominent on the program will be a Scottish fantasia by Peace, introducing the airs "Charlie Is My Darling," "Wandering Willie," "Robin Adair," "Piper o' Dundee," "My Love, She's But a Lassie Yet," "War Song," "Wha wad nae fecht for Charlie" and many others equally known. The "Spring Song," by Hollins, the Scotish composer, now organist of McEwen Hall, Edinburgh, will be another delightful number. Tickets at Phillips & Crew's and at the Cable Piano Company.

BRINGS FOUNDLING TO COURT AFTER KEEPING IT 3 WEEKS

Mrs. W. V. Williams, of 397 Oakland avenue, brought into the police court yesterday afternoon a foundling baby girl, apparently 4 months old, who had been left in the dead of night three weeks ago at her former home at 180-B Woodward avenue.

Mrs. Williams had cared for the baby until a friend told her that she should report its discovery to the police, and she brought her to court on the advice of Probation Officer Gloer.

Mrs. Williams said she would just love to adopt the little thing, but her husband was ill in a sanitarium and she was compelled to devote her time to him. Recorder Pro Tem. Preston thereupon signed an order giving the girl a home in the Home for the Friendless.

What to Do for a Sickly Child--Trial Free

Many a mother has written thanks after following these suggestions

It has always been a mooted question just what to do with an ailing child, for mothers disagree and few doctors specialize in it. But this much is certain, that in the majority of cases faulty bowel movement is at the bottom of the trouble.

The first thing, then, to do with a complaining child is to give it a laxative, not a mere fruit-stew or suchthing but a genuine, scientific laxative. Many are recommended but few have been found worthy. Among the latter none stands out more prominently than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers in all parts of the country have used for a generation.

It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. No child will refuse it as it is not a bad-tasting and violent cathartic pill, but a mild, gentle, non-griping liquid. It has also tonic properties that strengthen and tone the little stomach and bowel muscles so that they begin to do their work naturally again. Mrs. Ella N. Williams of Wathena, Kas., and Mrs. Emma Blakenship of Bedford, Ind., always give their children Syrup Pepsin.

If you hesitate to get even a fifty cent bottle and do not care to ask your neighbor about it (who probably is a user of Syrup Pepsin), then write Dr. Caldwell and he will cheerfully send you a sample bottle free of charge, and in this way you can make a test without personal cost. Simply send your name and address to the doctor. A great many thousand mothers have had a free sample in recent years, gave it to the children according to directions and now have healthy, romping youngsters.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 707 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

A PAYMENT PLAN THAT IS BETTER

Haverty's Divided Payment Plan Proving Advantageous.

The following excerpt from the six column advertisement of the Haverty Furniture Co., appearing in last Sunday's Constitution, is a clear and concise explanation of their "Divided Payment Plan" which has won for them much favor on account of its leniency, dignity and other attractive features:

"Haverty's Divided Payment Plan solves the home-furnishing question. It is very simple, thoroughly dignified. Every article is marked in plain figures at its lowest cash value. We have only one price; we give no discount for any reason. We do not charge extra for dividing payments. If you are worthy of credit, your account is as welcome as your cash.

The Truth About "Ready-to-Wear"

This is because they judge from a limited experience—because they don't know Eiseman & Weil Clothes.

Some makers sacrifice everything to profit. They neglect fit, follow commonplace style and slur their workmanship.

Not so, however, in Eiseman & Weil Clothes.

On the making of every garment is lavished the efforts of many custom tailors—each one a specialist in some detail.

The E. & W. Style is secured through master designers, who glean their ideas from world-famous fashion centres.

And rare experts in cloth select the materials as they come from the looms of the best woolen mills.

If you're paying the Eiseman & Weil price for other clothes you're losing in purse as well as in appearance.

Our Fall and Winter stock proves this. It will pay you to assure yourself of this fact.

MISS KING IS INTRODUCED TO SOCIETY AT RECEPTION

The reception at which Mrs. Porter King entertained yesterday afternoon was a delightful occasion, when her handsome young daughter, Miss Carolyn King, was introduced to a company of Atlanta's most representative people, calling between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Miss King, who has but recently returned from a year's study and travel abroad, inherits the stately beauty of her mother, while from both parents she inherits intellect and social talent, her father, the late Porter King, having been one of the most distinguished members of the Atlanta bar, and a prominent citizen. On both sides Miss King represents families of distinction in both Alabama and Georgia, and her debut will be of broad interest in southern society.

Mrs. King's home on Peachtree road is admirably adapted to entertaining, and was appropriately decorated Tuesday in palms, house plants and a luxury of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

In the drawing room Miss King was presented and impressed those who met her with her graceful, cordial manner. She wore an exquisite toilet in soft white crepe satin, embroidered in a design of roses inset with crystal beads. She carried an armful of Killarney roses, while in all parts of the room were clusters and bouquets of lovely flowers sent by her many admirers.

Mrs. King was elegantly gowned in black satin, the corsage lightened by an embroidery of gold and green.

In the entertaining party were Mrs. Charles J. Haden, Mrs. William Lawson Peel, Mrs. James O. Wynn, Mrs. Sam D. Jones, Mrs. John Oliver, Mrs. James L. Riley, Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mrs. Charles Winship, Mrs. W. H. Nutting, Mrs. Thomas Northen, Mrs. James Logan, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, Mrs. Harry Harman, Mrs. John E. White, Mrs. William Prioleau, Mrs. Hugh Willet.

An orchestra of music added to the brillance of the entertainment, and in the dining room, where refreshments were served, there was a beautiful decoration in yellow chrysanthemums. In the center of the circular table was a basket filled with the gold-lighted flowers. Silver candlesticks had their lights softened by yellow shades, and the bonbons and ices were in that color.

Through the house the decorations were in the palms and chrysanthemums, these against the walls and in the evening forming an effective frame work for the brilliant party of young people gathered for a dance and buffet supper.

The debutantes of the season assisted Miss King, and were a notably attractive group of young women. Miss Esther Smith wore a dancing gown of white satin embroidered in crystal and trimmed in marabou.

Miss Eloise Oliver wore an ideal debutante gown of sky-blue satin. Over it was a tunic of chiffon finished with band of lace, embroidered in tiny silver sequins. The corsage was empire in design, with the short kimono sleeves and finish given in lace and silver. Her charming guest, Miss Margot Cushing, of Boston, wore white satin with crystal trimming.

Miss Agnes McEvoy, of Baltmore, the guest of Miss Suzanne Spalding, was another pretty visitor. She wore white spangled chiffon over white satin. Miss Spalding wore white olga crepe and princess lace.

Miss Mary Traylor was gowned in yellow chiffon over yellow satin, with an embroidery of gold and pearls.

To Miss Owens.

Mrs. John L. Meek will entertain informally on Thursday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. R. W. Hunt's guest, Miss Owens, of Charleston.

Afternoon Reception.

A bright occasion on Friday will be the afternoon reception at which Mrs. Willis B. Parks and Miss Alline Parks will entertain in compliment to Mrs. Lucius W. McConnell and Mrs. John Means Daniel, brides of June.

Costume Velveteens

Black Only $1.00 Quality 89¢ Per Yard

This sale is paradoxical—a cut price on fabrics so stylish and so much in demand as to be almost impossible to procure in the open market.

The reason can be briefly stated: On account of the garment makers' strike a leading New York costume manufacturer was unable to make up his stock of fabrics. He wired us an offer on 500 yards of these Black Costume Velveteens, which we instantly accepted.

The purchase arrived yesterday and will be placed on sale in our silk section this morning.

These velveteens are identical with our regular one-dollar quality which is admittedly the best value shown anywhere at the price. Brilliantly lustrous in finish and of most popular weight for tailor suits, afternoon and evening costumes.

All are in full pieces just as they came from the looms.

As we cannot duplicate this bargain when this present lot is exhausted you should come early enough to be sure of sharing in it. We'll be surprised if the last of the 500 yards is not sold by noon.

89¢ the yard.

Tailored Suits Today at $13.75

A New, Special Showing of Attractive Fall Suits for Women and Misses

Once more we have been able to secure for special selling an assortment of these attractive, though inexpensive, Suits. Close to a hundred new arrivals are here. Suits not only in the straight simple lines of fashion, but carefully tailored and of excellent materials.

One very interesting feature is the variety of beautiful Suits shown in the popular rough weaves, just the Suits being so much called for.

Here now, for instance, are Suits of a loosely woven texture, hopsacking in mixtures of gray and brown with tiny flecks of red. A delightful model, the graceful coat, fitting perfectly, is lined with fine satin.

The Suit sketched shows another pleasing style. The coat is finished at collar and revers with black armure silk, and has a lining of guaranteed satin.

Among these new arrivals, and particularly good values, are Suits of fine all-wool serge, in blue, black and brown. The plain tailored coat is either single or double breasted, and has a lining of high-grade satin. Skirt has panel front and back and the effect of a deep fold at bottom.

They Are Remarkable Suits for $13.75

They would not be selling at this price—except for the unusual purchase we made. They are Suits of style and character, correct in every way. Plenty of navy and black Suits among them, wonderfully well made, in spite of their low price.

There are women's Suits in sizes 32 to 44, and misses' Suits in sizes 14 to 18 years. Great care has been taken to have each Suit just as interesting as the way it is priced.

Where French Market Coffee Won Its Fame

Over 150 years ago the old French Market at New Orleans won fame through its exquisite coffee. It was a rare treat to stop at this celebrated market and sip of the delicious beverage—the only place in America where it could be secured.

The society dames of all the Mardi Gras Balls would not consider the event complete without a cup of French Market Coffee as a "nightcap."

In the War of 1812, after Andrew Jackson's brilliant victory, he stopped at the Market House and treated his troops to French Market Coffee.

Then it could be had nowhere else. But today you may all serve it at your table—for the old French Market blend is perpetuated by

SUMMER WEATHER TO LINGER AWHILE

Today Will Be Fair, With the Temperature the Same.

Summer weather, which has prevailed in this vicinity for the past two or three days, gives excellent promise of lasting at least for another day.

According to the forecast issued from the local weather bureau yesterday afternoon Wednesday will be fair and the temperature will remain about the same. It was slightly warmer last night.

Although Monday was warm enough for this time of year. With the mercury registering at 56, the temperature climbed considerably higher Tuesday and registered at 65 degrees and the hopes of the coal man were once more cruelly dealt a swift and thoroughly satisfying punch in the region of the solar plexus, which is an extremely aggravating place to be punched.

The Gopher was put out of commission for almost an hour by the presence of a foreign substance in his off eye, which he vowed was either a scantling or a half brick, until the amateur surgeon of The Constitution office, after almost a half hour's work, brought forth a small particle of cinder, which was hardly visible with a microscope.

"That only goes to prove," said the Gopher, "that things are not always as big as they feel like they are, be it a particle in your optic or an idea in your 'bean.' But, whether it be large or small, neither the torture of the Inquisition, nor the latter-day 'third degree,' can class in soul-rending agony with a cinder in your eye. The only thing comparable to it is a tack in the heel of your shoe, when you are some place where you can't take it off.

"However, we have a capable 'house surgeon,' whose services I deeply appreciate and for whose presence at the psychological moment I am duly thankful."

IT TOOK A LONG TIME TO GET THIS EYE IN CONDITION.

WITH BROKEN NECK J. R. FORTNER DIES

Operation Brought Him to Consciousness, but Could Not Save His Life.

Forty-eight hours after his neck was broken in a runaway accident, J. R. Fortner, a truck farmer of 1 Hoke street, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the Grady hospital.

An operation Sunday removing the splintered bone from pressing upon the spinal column brought Fortner to consciousness and death came at a moment when he was able to speak and know those around his cot.

Fortner was thrown from his buggy against a telephone pole at Howell's Mill road and Marietta street Sunday morning, when his horse bolted at the sight of an automobile driven by Dr. J. F. Freeman.

He was 55 years of age and is survived by his wife and six children.

Grinding Sugar Cane.

Thomasville, Ga., November 8—(Special.)—Farmers all through this section have gone to work to grind up their cane this week. The tops of the cane look brown from the effects of the recent frosts, but the stalks were not injured as far as the juice is concerned. Most of the farmers banked their seed cane before the frost came, but some were caught out and will probably have a short crop next year. The crop this year is shorter than usual and it is probable that the price of south Georgia syrup will soar skyward along with other commodities.

MINNESOTA'S GREAT QUARTER BACK, TALK OF WESTERN FOOTBALL

In Johnny McGovern the Minnesota eleven has the star quarter back of the 1910 season. McGovern was the choice for All-American quarter back last year, and it looks as if he will have the honors to himself this year. The Gophers' little field general is about everything that a quarter back should be. In all Minnesota's battles this season he has displayed great generalship. In the recent game against Nebraska McGovern's wonderful all around playing materially aided his team to defeat the Cornhuskers. When Nebraska's always stiff defense started to drawing in he dispersed it with a forward pass. When the Cornhuskers started to play the loose line McGovern would shift the attack through the line in the weakest spots and appeared to possess an uncanny ability to pick these spots. In addition to electrifying the 15,000 spectators with his long darting runs and line bucks, McGovern negotiated two splendid field goals and came through the hour of hard play with an entire team endeavoring to stop him without injury or hurt more serious than a bruise. In the big games of 1909 McGovern starred occasionally, but in the game against Nebraska he pulled off sensation after sensation, and of every five plays started off McGovern figured conspicuously in three.

RED AND BLACK MEETS CLEMSON

Old-Time Rivals Battle at Augusta on Thursday.

Georgia and Clemson, two old-time rivals, battle on the gridiron at Augusta on Thursday in a game that will be hard fought from the whistle toot.

Georgia will have the advantage on dope and in weight. The Red and Black squad, on their own calculations, average 158 pounds, while Coach Dobson says that the Tigers will only average 148.

This gives the Georgia bunch quite an edge, but Dobson is one of the foxiest of coaches, and the way his squad held the heavy Auburn team, speaks well for his coaching, the score being 17 to 0.

As to how much Georgia will win by, that is a guess that is a hard one, and is passed up here. Georgia will win. The score is a puzzle.

M'GUGIN BELIEVES TECH WILL FIGHT

Thinks Yellow Jackets Have a Good Team This Year.

By L. W. Hardage.

Nashville, Tenn., November 8.—(Special.)—The Commodores showed up to their true form Saturday in the game against L. S. U. The men were in good shape, and Quarter Back Morrison cut loose a series of plays the Louisiana team found impossible to stop.

Vanderbilt's interference on end runs was magnificent. Every back and two men from the line were ahead of the man with the ball in every instance, and the way they bowled over the would-be tacklers was a pretty sight.

The Commodores have probably the strongest defense of any team in the south. There is not a man on the team who is not a sure, hard tackler. The machine that scores a touchdown on Vanderbilt this year will be lucky, indeed.

After the 'varsity had scored three touchdowns on L. S. U., Coach McGugin took out all of the regulars, with the exception of Freeland and Morgan, and put in the reserves. Louisiana was able to make first down three times during the remainder of the game, but were never in danger of scoring.

The regulars would probably have rolled up forty or fifty points if they had played all of the game, but Coach McGugin is saving his men for the game with Georgia Tech. He expects the Yellow Jackets to give the Commodores a hard tussle to win in the game next Saturday in Atlanta.

BULL SIGNS NET PLAYERS NEAT SUM

The bull signs which are located in some 200 ball parks all over the country, were hit 86 times during the past season, which netted the lucky players $4,300.

There were 2,000 home runs made in these same parks, making a total amount of 10,000 pounds of tobacco distributed among the heavy hitters.

Southern Association.

Atlanta, Ga.—The bull sign was never hit. There were four home runs, making a total of fifteen pounds of tobacco.

Birmingham, Ala.—The bull sign was never hit. There were three home runs, making a total of fifteen pounds of tobacco.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The bull sign was hit on June 13 by Forrest More, who received $50. There were seventeen home runs, making a total of eighty-five pounds of tobacco.

Mobile, Ala.—The bull sign was never hit. There were nine home runs made, making a total of forty-five pounds of tobacco.

Montgomery, Ala.—The bull sign was never hit. There were sixteen home runs, making a total of eighty pounds of tobacco.

There were eighty-six home runs made, making a total of 430 pounds of tobacco. The bull sign was hit three times for a total of $150.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY STARS INELIGIBLE

Lexington, Ky., November 8.—Allegations that Center Rush Ralph Wingo and Half Back Owen White, two of the strongest players on Central University football team, are ineligible for Kentucky and southern college athletics, because they have not made the required class marks under the rules of the Kentucky association, caused a sensation in college circles here today. Both men have been playing all season, and have helped make Central a contender with the Kentucky State University, Vanderbilt and Sewanee, for the southern championship. White has been temporarily suspended, and action on Wingo's case is expected this week. Both players reside in Louisville.

YELLOW JACKETS PLAYING BADLY

Much Fumbling Marks the Practice—No Drive to Plays.

The Tech football team was a 50 per cent better football team three weeks ago than it is today. There is a reason. In fact, there are several reasons. But the most prominent reason of them all is "Doc" Wilson, and he is some reason.

The way it looks from observance with study of the Tech style of play this year, is, that all their play, both offensive and defensive, was built around Wilson. He was the revolving pin in the team's attack, and when they lost him, they lost their play.

For awhile, it looked like the Jackets would not suffer from the loss of Wilson, but they have, and they have suffered wonderfully. None of the things that the Jackets do now and did against Auburn would have been done had "Doc" been in the game.

A visit to the Flats yesterday afternoon showed the Jackets in practically a state of chaos. Not only had their horrible fumbling of Saturday stayed with them, but they did not charge either hard or low, lacked the drive to their plays and played high in the line.

Heisman Peeved.

Coach Heisman ranted and fumed at the men, as coaches are wont to do, and finally gave it up in disgust, retiring from the field and letting the men fight it out by themselves. Three weeks ago he would have admitted, if asked, that it was the best Tech team that he had ever coached, but should you happen to ask him now, he would say that it is the worst.

The changes predicted have happened, but not exactly in accord with the predictions. Patterson has been switched back to his regular position at tackle, where he is playing in his old time form.

"Piggy" Johnson, the speedy little back field man, is playing regularly in the back field now and Courtney Lewis is getting a chance, while Robinson is laid up.

The problem of who will return punts in the Vanderbilt game has been solved at last, and Captain Hill will take the duty that fell upon the shoulders of "Doc" Wilson previously. And "Red" appears to be a mighty good man for the place.

Jackets Must "Come Back."

Unless the Jackets pull themselves together in better shape by Saturday, Vanderbilt is going to walk all through them. But with a dry field and with a return of the old drive to the Tech plays, the Commodores are going to have one of the hardest fights of the season on their hands.

The officials of the game have been decided upon. Bradley Walker will referee, Tutwiler will umpire, Sandy Beaver will act as field judge and Grantland Rice as head linesman.

The tickets for the game will go on sale today at the following places: Tumlin Brothers' three cigar stands, the College Co-Op on Peachtree street, and Silverman's, Peachtree and Marietta.

The prices of admission will be: Bleachers 75 cents, grandstand $1, outer side lines $1, reserved grandstand $1.25, box seats $1.50.

AUBURN CUTS OUT AN EASY PACE NOW

The Week Will Be One of Leisure for Donahue's Bunch.

By Bradley Streit.

Auburn, Ala., November 8.—(Special.)—Auburn is taking things easy since they marched up to Atlanta, Ga., 500 strong and defeated a team which Coach Heisman admitted was the best he had ever coached.

Auburn went through great strain and worry to get in condition to meet Tech. They were drilled to the limit and when they entered the game Saturday every man, with the exception of Noble and Streit, were in fine condition. These two men were both laid up from the Texas game. Neither was in any scrimmage till the Tech game. Major was also hurt in Texas, but recovered to Tech's sorrow, as he booted the pigskin several times for about 50 yards.

And now Coach Donahue will send the team through a light week's work, as Tulane will be an easy proposition, unless all signs fail. Then we will have about nine days to get in shape for Georgia. Auburn should beat Georgia worse than Tech, as Tech will defeat Georgia, and as Georgia will depend upon McWhorter and Woodruff, as they cannot break a line and Tech is very strong on her ends.

Auburn will line up different in the Tulane game. Majors, a regular guard, was used as leading man in the back field in the Tech game, will be back at his regular position at guard, and the team will be shifted still more, as Streit will be out of the game, as his ankle was sprained in the first five minutes of play in the Tech game.

They will line up as follows: Caton, center; Bonner, Majors, guards; Allen, Lamb, Harman, tackle; Noble, Cogdell, Shilling, ends; Newell, quarter back; Davis, half back; Manning, full back; McCoy, half back.

SPEEDWAY DIRECTORS WILL MEET MONDAY

To Discuss Future Plans for the Track---Nothing Definite.

The directors of the Atlanta Speedway will hold a meeting on Monday, at which time they will review the past meet and discuss the plans for the future.

A report has been going the rounds that they intend dropping the Speedway attraction, but President Candler denies this, and says that they have never had any such idea, and don't know where it got out.

SPORTING NEWS RAPS SALARY LIMIT

Weekly Takes Punch at Southern League's New Figure.

The St. Louis Sporting News says: "While at first glance it may appear that the Southern League took commendable action in increasing its salary limit, sober second thought tends to the belief that what has been done is really a step backward. Let's examine facts. Last year the salary limit was $3,200 per month for 14 players, allowing a rebate on the player-manager's salary of one-half. The new salary limit has been fixed at $3,500 for 16 players, with no rebuate on the player-manager's salary. Eliminating for the present the effect of the rebate on the player-manager's salary, a simple arithmetical calculation will convince that whereas an average of $228 was allowed last season for 14 players, next season's average must be diminished to $216 per player, counting the full quota of 16. Figuring the effect of the player-manager rebate, last season if the player-manager's salary was $400 per month, say, only $200 was to be taken into account in making salary limit returns. Next season the entire $400 must be accounted for. On the basis of $400 per month for the player-manager, it will thus be seen that the salary limit has not been increased $300, as at first appears, but only $100, and even this addition is to allow pay for two more players than could be carried last season.

"The action of the Southern League is strange, to say the least. The result of its experiment last season in baseball economics, can hardly be conceived to have been a success and gave rise to some things unhesitatingly pronounced unworthy a league of the Southern's standing and pretensions. It is to be hoped that the men with the votes will reconsider this part of their action at the next meeting. Other things done at the recent meeting can be regarded with more pleasure. President Kavanaugh's reelection was commendable. He has made an excellent officer and the administration of the office could be in no more capable hands. Nor can any unfavorable criticism be made on the reduction of Montgomery's fine from $1,250 to $500 in connection with the Juul incident. That there were 'mitigating circumstances' can not be denied, for it cannot be substantiated that the club itself knew, or, if it knew, had any power to prevent the addition to Juul's salary made by a party undeniably interested, but not officially connected with the club. That the fine was not wiped out altogether, but allowed to remain at an appreciable figure shows that even such 'ignorance,' or 'passiveness' will not be allowed in future with impunity."

HONDURAS FACES GENERAL REVOLT

It Is Said President Davila Will Soon Be Deposed.

New Orleans, November 8.—A general uprising in Honduras, with all of the old enemies of President Davila participating in the movement for his overthrow, is imminent, according to advices brought here last night by passengers on the steamer Orlenian from Ceiba and Puerto Cortez. They say the revolutionary spirit is spreading throughout the little republic, and while the people generally do not sympathize with the actions of General Valladares, the revolutionary governor of Amapala, they are willing to again rally to Manuel Bonilla, who many believe to be now making preparations to revive his revolution against Davila.

As an indication of the preparations that are going forward for a concerted movement against Davila, General Medina, former commandant at Ceiba, has gone to Amapala to consult Valladares and has been joined there by Generals Lara and Matuty, who were prominent in the recent Nicaraguan revolution.

Medina, who is a noted fighter and one of the most powerful political leaders in Honduras, only recently turned against President Davila. He was credited with crushing the Bonila revolution last July, but shortly thereafter Davila, because of complaints made by the British government, sent Medina to New Orleans on a leave of absence. Two weeks ago he left here to resume his post, but Davila notified him that his former actions had been so distasteful to foreign representatives that he could not be allowed to remain in Ceiba. Thereupon Medina wrote the president a letter in which he referred to Davila as a puppet and warned him that a serious revolution would be the outgrowth of the affair.

Among the passengers and members of the Central American colony here, the belief is expressed that Davila will not long be the head of the Honduran government. Villadares, they say, is impossible. Bonilla, it is asserted, would be acceptable to the United States government, and many believe that if he takes advantage of the government's present embarrassment on the Pacific coast, he will have little trouble in collecting a large army on the Atlantic coast for a successful march against the capital.

WAR IS BEING MADE ON HIGH SCHOOL FRATS

Watertown, N. Y., November 8.—The war which the local board of education is waging against local high school fraternities has reached a climax with the expulsion of 64 out of a total enrollment of 584 students in the high school. Their expulsion followed their refusal to sign a paper renouncing present or future membership in secret high school organizations. Twenty-nine of those standing out against the board are girls.

The expelled ones have engaged an attorney and will make a test case of the matter.

ACCUSED OF INSANITY FOR FORGETTING TRUMPS

New York, November 8.—As evidence that the late William Creerand, publisher of a trade journal, was of unsound mind when he made his will, his sister, Mrs. Rosa S. Findley, has offered to a New York court the testimony of a trained nurse that her brother, in his closing days, continually forgot what was trumps when playing bridge whist and had a habit, against all the rules, of turning back through the played tricks to find what cards were out.

Creerand left about $30,000, of which the sister, who complains, receives by his will only $1,500.

TWENTY-ONE KILLED PLAYING BASEBALL

Chicago, November 8.—That baseball is not all child's play is evident from a list of fatalities of the game compiled here. Twenty-one fatalities are credited to the national game in 1910, one of them being that of Philip Farney, an umpire, who met death from being hit over the eye by a pitched ball at El Reno, Okla.

The deaths were chiefly among players not of the greatest skill. Swiftly batted balls and straight hard ones from the pitchers cost the most lives. Three of the deaths credited to the game were not directly baseball fatalities, being due to a riot between negro teams in Georgia.

SOUTHERN DOCTORS MEET IN NASHVILLE

Six States Are Represented With Between 400 and 500 Delegates.

Nashville, Tenn., November 8.—Prominent physicians and surgeons of six states are in attendance upon the annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association, which convened this morning for a three days' meeting in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian Association building, with Dr. W. W. Crawford, of Hattiesburg, Miss., presiding. The states represented are Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Tennessee, with between four hundred and five hundred delegates.

Dr. Crawford's address was delivered at the evening session, and another important paper of that session was "Safeguarding Society From the Unfit," by Dr. A. B. Coke, of Nashville.

Dr. W. D. Haggard, of Nashville, extended a welcome to the visitors, which was responded by Dr. Seale Harris, of Mobile, Ala. Then followed reports from committees, and election of a nominating committee. An address by J. B. Murphy, of Chicago, president-elect A. M. A., Chicago, was heard this afternoon.

HARDSHIP IS WORKED BY THE LETTER OF LAW

Sad Case of Two Hungarian Immigrants at Ellis Island.

New York, November 8.—Ellis island will remember the case of Franz Lohn and his wife, Hungarians, as a peculiar example of how the innocent letter of the law as applied to immigrants may work heartrending hardships.

The aged couple have two daughters living in Passaic, N. J., and it was their intention to join them when they journeyed to Hamburg, Germany, and bought a ticket to America. But the man who sold them the ticket put them on a steamer which landed them in Buenos Ayres. With no funds, they spent a year at hard manual labor on a ranch, earning enough for passage to New Yorn. A week ago they arrived here penniless. The Imigration officials said immediately they could not land, because they were likely to become public charges.

The pleadings of the two daughters availed nothing, and the only question which remained was, should they go back to Argentina or to Hamburg? The law says specifically that the line which brings over an undesirable alien shall take him back. The daughters offered to pay the passage to Germany, but the law was inflexible, and the two are now aboard a steamer sailing back to Argentina.

PRIZE FIGHT IN GUISE OF A POLITICAL RALLY

Three Hundred Lovers of Pugilism Arrested by Chicago Police.

Chicago, November 8.—A gathering advertised as a political rally last night turned out to be a prize fight. The fight got well under way in a barn at the corner of West Forty-ninth street and South Paulina street before the police raided the place and arrested 300 men, including the principals and a prominent politician.

The raid was conducted by Lieutenant John Ryan, of the Englewood police station. Plain clothes men and policemen from a dozen south side stations surrounded the barn, and at a preconcerted signal closed in on the fake political meeting. In place of an address on political issues, they found a referee introducing the fighters and announcing the rules of the fight.

Ryan shouted to the crowd that every man in the place was under arrest and ordered the fight stopped.

The men scheduled to fight were "Young" Ketchel and Mickey Sheridan. Both men had thrown off their bath robes and were in the center of the ring when Ryan's men entered the place.

32 MEN ARE ADDED TO POLICE FORCE

Employed When It Was Found There Was Excess in Payroll.

Thirty-two new men were added to the Atlanta police force last night by the police commission in regular session. The addition makes the present force 253 strong. These new men, together with thirteen supernumeraries already on the force, will do regular patrol duty until January 1. Chief Jennings announced that there was an excess of $4,400 on the pay roll appropriation. With the balance left after paying the salaries of the new men the board will buy another automobile patrol, provided the finance committee of council consents.

THEATERS

Thomas Dixon.

Playgoers of this city are looking forward with the liveliest anticipation to when "The Sins of the Father," at the Grand, November 17-18-19, will be presented by a notably excellent company, under the direction of Manager George H. Brennan. Although but recently produced, the fame of Thomas Dixon's newest drama has traveled fast. The verdict of critics and public alike is that this play is by far that master craftsman's strongest work. It deals with the great problem of the intermixture of races. The plot hinges on the suspicion that a beautiful young woman, a guest in an aristocratic home, is tainted with the stain of negro blood.

Mr. Dixon himself will appear in the leading role of his new play, and those who attend the performances here are assured of a dramatic treat.

"Human Hearts."

"Human Hearts" fully illustrates how much interest dramatic material may be gathered by the author based on the atcual happenings of life. The story of "Human Hearts" is almost true in every detail. The incidents that form the plot are well known, and still food for gossip in the community where they happened. The author of the play met the original Tom Logan several years ago, and heard the story from his own lips. Becoming deeply interested, he journeyed to the home of Tom Logan, where he met most of the other charatcers who round out the cast of his play, and the result has been a play that has had a livid interest for more lovers of all that is good and true in melodrama, than any other dramatic composition of the last decade. "Human Hearts" will be shown on the stage of the Orpheum next Saturday, November 12, for both matinee and night.

James Powers.

James T. Powers, in the George Edwardes' London Gaiety musical success, "Havana," with a company of over 100 people, will be the attraction at the Grand theater Thursday, when the Messrs. Shubert send the greatest of their Casino productions—with the possible exception of their recent all-star revival of "The Mikado"—to this city. For nearly two years Mr. Powers appeared as Samuel Nix, bos'un of the yacht Wasp in "Havana" at the Casino, and now, after this memorable engagement, the piece is being sent on tour. The music of "Havana" is by Leslie Stuart, composer of "Florodora" and creator of that wonderful sextet "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden."

NO TROLLEY STRIKE FOR THE QUAKER CITY

Trouble Between the Company and Employees Settled.

Philadelphia, November 8.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon it was announced that the arbitrators had reached an agreement on the interpretation of "loyal men" which has caused friction between the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and its union men. It is stated that the agreement will satisfy both sides and ends all talk of a strike.

When the last strike was settled the company reserved the right to give the preference in runs to men who had remained "loyal" to the company. The union claims this meant men who were with the company prior to the strike and who remained in its employ during the strike. The contention now is that the company insists on recognizing as "loyal" men employees who were taken on during the strike. This the men assert meant that strikebreakers are given the preferenc in the assignment of runs over men who have been in the company's service for years.

COPPER COPPER COPPER COPPER COPPER COPPER

Gold is a mere bagatelle compared with its value. A positive necessity in every walk of life. It will be used when the coal mines are exhausted to carry warmth to your firesides from the cold mountain streams. NOW is your opportunity to invest in one of the really great mines of this metal. Fortune is chary knocking twice at man's door. Don't procrastinate. Look where Clark, Phelps-Dodge, Guggenheims and many others are from starting a nest egg in copper properties. We could sell our property, but we won't; we want a little machinery to work it on a grander scale, to replace the now inadequate machinery for hoisting the ore, opening up new ore bodies, and continuing the development on a much larger plan. It doesn't make any difference whether it is ONE DOLLAR you invest or FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS, you will receive the same pro rata of the returns that are bound to accrue on your investment, and the men interested, who are the foremost of this great southwest country, will guarantee that your money will be spent to that end.

Shares Today, $1.00, January 1st positively not less than $2.00 per share

If you want to examine the mine before investing, wire your stock reservation to

or send check for the number of shares you want, and they will be promptly forwarded.

TROUP IN LINE FOR GOOD ROADS

County Votes $250,000 Bond Issue for Road Improvement.

LaGrange, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—In line with good roads progress throughout Georgia, Troup county today stepped in line by voting a $250,000 bond issue.

Already the roads of this county are far ahead of many in the state, but nothing short of improvement for every foot of public highway in Troup will satisfy the people. The election today carried by an overwhelming majority, about two-thirds of the voters turning out at the polls.

Improvements will be made on every stretch of highway in the county. The work will be done by contract.

Cracksmen Get $2,000.

Toledo, Ohio, November 8.—After blowing a portion of the vault through the ceiling with nitro-glycerine, cracksmen secured $2,000 from the Selether bank, a private institution at Jersey City, Ohio, 33 miles from Toledo, early today. The robbers, of whom there were three, escaped in an automobile. It is believed that the same men who operated in Metamera yesterday, securing $4,000, were involved in the Jersey City affair.

The London Dustmen.
(From The London Chronicle.)
During the hearing of a case at Woolwich yesterday it was mentioned that a man who made a living by raking over dust heaps earned from $6 to $10 weekly, while one witness said that he knew a man who made $40 a week "out of the same stuff."

Mr. Chapman, the magistrate: "We had better all become dustmen."

CHARGING GRAFT ASKS MONEY BACK

J. Stovall Smith Enjoins Executive Committe.

Bills for Lithia Water and Cigars for Managers Unfair and Unjustifiable, He Says. Declares a Bill for Autos a Graft.

Charging graft in connection with the expense account in the first primary, alleging unjustifiable award of salary to officers of the committee and declaring it illegal to use money left from the first election for a second primary, J. Stovall Smith, defeated candidate for the office of city clerk, yesterday asked and receive a temporary restraining order against the city executive committee, enjoining the use of the balance of the fund.

Mr. Smith concentrated his fire on the collection and the distribution of the election fund.

In the first place he held that the collection of $3,030 by the committee was arbitrary, unjust and unreasonable, and that the expenditure in the election of $1,822.08 was unfair and unnecessary. He says he was obliged to put up $100, and that he understood he would get his pro rata share back, and that he was not told about any other election.

In regard to the distribution of the fund, he says that the payment of $200 to the secretary and an additional $55 for the expense allowance was unjustifiable, as the secretary was elected by the people to serve without compensation, and that the payment of $50 to the treasurer was also without authority.

In connection with the expense account he charges that the bills for printing and for meals were exorbitant; that the bills for Lithia water and cigars furnished the managers were unfair and unjustifiable; that the bill for automobiles hired was a graft. He asks the judge to adjudge as illegal the $250 paid t othe secretary and treasurer, and order this amount returned for pro rata division, as well as the $1,207.92 that the city executive committee has decided to use for the second primary.

The defendants named in the bill are: W. M. Smith, chairman of the executive committee; Paul Toland, treasurer, and S. P. Cronheim, secretary.

Judge Pendleton granted a temporary order, but held that upon putting up bond for $100, which would cover Mr. Smith's share of the fund, the committee could go ahead and use the $1,200.

Revision Downward!

For some time we have had a subdivision in hand on Simpson street, between Griffin and Chestnut streets, but the lots did not sell fast. Now a car track has been laid out Simpson, all the streets around have been graded, and general improvements made. In the face of all these improvements we have made a change in prices amounting to A. SUBSTANTIAL REVISION DOWNWARD.

Now we expect these lots to sell. Where else can a workingman hope to get a building site close to a car line for $225? Some nice lots are priced at $175 and $200. Terms, small cash payment, balance $5 a month.

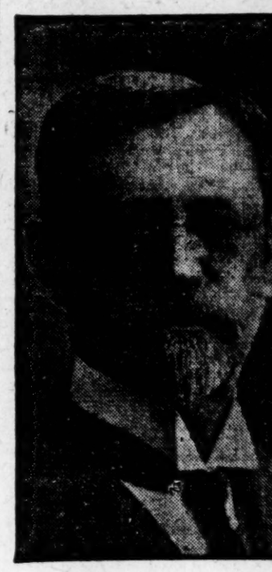
DISEASES OF MEN



If I have some decided and original views on these diseases it is because I have been continuously in the work for 33 years, and for 25 years have devoted my whole time to these different and delicate cases.

I believe that many cases of stricture may be cured with less harsh treatment that they often receive. I believe this because I have demonstrated it again and again.

I believe that Syphilis needs not only the proper remedies, but careful, intelligent methods and attention to detail in order to cure and cure permanently.

I believe that Chronic Gnorrhoea causes more physical wrecks than any other disease. I believe this because I know. I believe that nothing needs more scientific methods in order to cure, and the man who suffers from it knows, too, that I am right.

I believe in straightforward advertising and honest business methods, combined with conscientious treatment and if you are in need of advice, and will appreciate that kind of service, I will take pleasure in examining you free of charge.

Office hours 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.; Sunday, 10 to 1.

My booklets, "Diseases of Men" and "Health Essays" sent sealed and in plain wrapper on request.

I have been practicing in Atlanta longer than any advertising specialist here or any firm of advertising specialists. Any statements to the contrary are unequivocally false.

Albany, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) Albany's oldest white resident died at 7 o'clock this morning, when Mrs. Lucretia A. Steele passed away, after an illness of several days. She was in her eighty-eighth year, and had lived in Albany for forty years. She was a native of Virginia.

She had been confined to her room for several years, the result of an accident, but continued active in church and charitable work, and exerted a wonderful influence for good in the community.

WALKER TO ANSWER FOR DEATH OF WIFE

Large Number of His Macon Neighbors Called as Witnesses.

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) Tomorrow the grand jury of Bibb county will take up the investigation of the alleged murder of Mrs. Alma Walker by her husband, William Walker, who is charged with throwing gasoline upon her at the kitchen stove, where it burned her to death.

Walker has stoutly denied the terrible crime.

Horse Electrocuted.

Valdosta, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—One of the horses composing a milk team from the Hightower dairy was electrocuted by a live wire on Patterson street yesterday morning, and the driver of the team, Green Boyd, had a narrow escape. An electric light wire had burned in two and fallen to the ground, which was struck by the horse. As the animal fell, its mate, probably shocked by the contact with the other horse, plunged to one side and tore loose from the wagon, making its escape. Boyd was severely shocked when he placed his hand on the wheel in getting out of the wagon, the whole vehicle seemingly becing charged with the electricity.

CURRENCY REFORM NEARING VICTORY

J. A. McCord Looks for Results From Currency Commission Meeting.

J. A. McCord, vice president of the Third National Bank of Atlanta and member of the currency commission of the American Bankers' Association, left the city last night at midnight for New York to attend a meeting of the currency commission, called by A. B. Hepburn, chairman, for Thursday, November 10. On the same day, the National Monetary Commission, of which Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, is chairman, will hold an important meeting at the Hotel Plaza.

"I think this marks the beginning of the end of the campaign for currency reform," said Mr. McCord on leaving. "This will be the last year of Mr. Aldrich's service in the United States senate, and he wishes to effect some reform in the country's monetary system as the last act of his public career.

"The American Bankers' Association has for several years been working on this vitally important subject. The currency commission named by the body has held a number of meetings, discussed a number of possible remedies, and threshed the whole matter out carefully.

"There is no doubt that something ought to be done, and the evidences are accumulating that the subject of currency reform will be taken up immediately upon the convening of congress in December. The next session is a short one, and the subject is a big one; but, with the preliminary work already done, I believe some remedial plan of legislation can be put through if supported by the members of the monetary commission and the bankers of the country."

While in New York, Mr. McCord will attend the banquet to be given Friday night at the Hotel Astor by the Academy of Political Sciences of the City of New York. To this dinner the members of the two commissions which are discussing monetary legislation will be bidden.

GARMENT WORKERS' DEMANDS DRAFTED

Full Recognition of the Union and Shorter Hours Are Demanded.

Chicago, November 8.—A committee of nine to take complete charge of the garment workers' strike, to act as a board of strategy and to represent the strikers in the event of negotiations with the manufacturers was organized today at a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor and officials of the United Garment Workers.

Following a meeting of the committee terms of settlement were drafted. These form the basis of the strikers' demands. In substance they call for full recognition of the union, forty-eight hours a week for cutters and trimmers and fifty-four for tailors. No demands were made for an increase of wages.

Miss Rickert, president of the United Garment Workers, whose efforts for a settlement were repudiated Sunday, receive a vote of confidence at several small meetings today.

All clothing manufacturrs heeded a request of the police department and kept their factories closed on election day. While the police dispersed several minor gatherings, there was no sign of rioting.

GIRL'S DRESS IGNITES BEFORE OPEN GRATE

Marietta, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—Miss Ruth Dobbs, the 18-year-old daughter of John Dobbs, who lives just out of town, was dangerously burned Saturday morning by her clothing taking fire at the grate at which she was warming.

It is not thought now that she can recover, as her burns are severe, the entire lower part of her body being badly burned.

TO IMPROVE SPRINGS.

Road May Be Built to Emanuel County Watering Place.

Swainsboro, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—M. B. Gillis, owner of Gillis Springs, is taking active steps to develop his springs, which are located in this county a few miles from Soperton.

He has already completed a very handsome 30-room hotel, which has been opened a few weeks. He also expects to make a great many improvements around the springs before next summer, which will make the resort even more popular than it has been during the last two seasons—the site being quite picturesque and the water from these springs containing great curative powers.

Efforts are being made looking to the building of a railroad to the springs.

DICKINSON PLEASED WITH PHILIPPINES

Secretary Busy Preparing Report on Trip Around the World.

Washington, November 8.—Secretary Dickinson was at his desk in the war department today, busily engaged in the preparation of a report upon his trip around the world, with special reference to conditions in the Philippines. This he expects to have ready for submission to the president upon the return of the latter from the Isthmus of Panama, for he has already gotten much of it in shape, availing himself of the time afforded by his long trip across over the trans-Siberian railway on his return to America.

The secretary was well pleased with the situation he found in the Philippines. The people, he said, were generally satisfied and prospering. An attempt was made to elicit his views upon the subject of independence for the archipelago, but he made it clear that the matter was one beyond his authority to discuss.

The school was working well and there was an encouraging development of general education among the younger generation.

The secretary was particularly pleased with the development of the judiciary, and he spoke in terms of high praise of the prisons, which, he said, were worthy of imitation by some of the most advanced countries. The army as a whole was found to be enjoying good health. The soldiers have learned how to take care of themselves in the matter of diet and habit of life and they are apparently contented.

Work on the fortifications of Manila harbor is progressing rapidly, the principal point of defense being Corregidor Island at the entrance.

ASK BOND ELECTION TO AID IN ROAD WORK

But Emanuel County Board Decides Not to Issue Call.

Swainsboro, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—The board of road and revenue commissioners held a meeting Friday for the purpose of deciding whether an election should be called for the purpose of voting on the question of bonding the county for the construction of roads. Numerously signed petitions were presented to this body and although the sentiment is increasing in advocacy of the county bonding herself to build her highways, still the board, after due deliberation, decided that it was not expedient at this time to call an election.

Nothing daunted, however, the leaders in the movement have determined to go to work with even more earnestness.

While on her way from DeLand, Fla., to Atlanta for treatment, Mrs. Louise Nahm, aged 46 years, died on the Georgia Southern and Florida railway passenger train, northbound, near Cordele this morning. The remains were brought to Macon and prepared for burial. The body will be taken to DeLand for funeral. A daughter, Miss Eva Nahm, and a nurse, Miss Dora Richardson, accompanied Mrs. Nahm. Dr. James T. Ross, the railway physician, received the remains here and gave assistance.

Masked Men Loot Bank.

Beattie, Kan., November 8.—Five masked men who came to this place in an automobile dynamited the safe of the Beattie State bank early today and obtained $3,500. They escaped in the car, followed by a posse of citizens, and a running fight ensued, during which 100 shots were exchanged and two of the robbers were wounded.

Cooper Fighting for Cargile.

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(Special.) Attorney John R. Cooper today secured an appeal for Woodward Cargile, now under life sentence for killing Ide Price in Jasper county, and the fight will be taken to the state supreme court. Judge Lewis has approved the appeal, which was taken immediately upon the refusal to grant a new trial in the superior court of Jasper county.

Pauline Wayne's Big Bill.

Washington, November 8.—Pauline Wayne, the white house cow, gave birth to a 100-pound son this morning. They named him Big Bill, because of his unusual size and vigor. Big Bill will go tomorrow to live on a farm in Maryland. He was presented to W. W. Price, a newspaper man attached to the white house, who is known to many public men as "Big Bill."

Bids for Torpedo Boats.

Washington, November 8.—Bids opened at the navy department today for the construction of six torpedo boat destroyers indicate that contracts probably will be awarded as follows: Fore River Yard, one vessel; Bath Iron Works, two vessels; New York Ship Building Company, one vessel; Newport News Ship Building and Dry Dock Company, one vessel; Cramp's Yard, one vessel.

"TREE DOCTORS" AT WAR; BRING TROUBLES TO COURT

Paul W. Elwell, generally known as "the tree doctor," is the defendant in a suit which was entered yesterday in the superior court by L. W. Wright.

Wright asks for an injunction restraining Elwell from spreading abroad statements to the effect that Wright knows nothing of the art of tree-doctoring.

According to the petition, Elwell has been calling up various people who have employed Wright and has told them that the latter is "not only incompetent, but a crook."

These statements, Wright says, are falsely and maliciously made and are resulting in much damage.

A temporary injunction was granted.

"Trespassing" Is Claimed.

The so-called Armistead property, 101¼ acres of valuable land near Ponce de Leon park, was again the subject of litigation yesterday, when L. F. Bellingrath, W. F. Cassells and others filed a petition for an injunction to restrain the Armistead contingent from "trespassing" on the property.

Robert L. Rodgers, attorney for the Armisteads, James M. Armistead and others, are the defendants in the suit.

The petition alleges that the defendants have trespassed upon the property, have stored supplies in a house upon the land, have posted it and have sent out circulars claiming the property and warning other people to keep off.

The petition asks for $5,000 damages, and that all deeds on which the defendants allege ownership be canceled.

The temporary restraining order was signed by Judge J. T. Pendleton.

He Tired of Married Life.

After six months of matrimony Mrs. Susie V. Little says that her husband, Eugene Little, deserted her, and that from the year 1901 until the present time she has heard nothing from him. Therefore she has made petition for divorce and an order to perfect service by publication has been signed by Judge J. T. Pendleton.

Sues for Auto Accident.

Buford Ingram, the 14-year-old boy who was accidentally struck by Walter T. Candler's automobile some time ago, has entered suit for $10,000 damages through Mrs. Lena Ingram. The petition alleges careless driving.

Bailiff Found Guilty.

J. W. Dean, bailiff in Justice R. R. Jackson's court, was again found guilty of extortion by a second jury, who yesterday heard the case of Governor W. Wright, a negro, against Dean.

A fine of $200 was imposed by Judge Calhoun. This is the second verdict against Dean within the past few days, the first case being prosecuted by a white woman.

FINLEY SHOWS INTEREST IN BOLL WEEVIL MEETING

While unable to be in Atlanta on November 23d to address the boll weevil conference which is to be held here then, President W. W. Finley, of the Southern railway, has expressed his deep interest in the subject, setting out his belief that the subject is one of supreme importance, and his pleasure that the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has interested itself in the matter.

In a telegram received from Mr. Finley yesterday, he states that a previous engagement will prevent his addressing the boll weevil conference. His wire, in full, follows:

"Washington, D. C., November 8, 1910.—W. G. Cooper, Secretary Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta, Ga. I have your telegram, 7th instant, as advised through Assistant President Thompson. I appreciate the kind invitation of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to address boll weevil conference on 23d instant, but regret my inability to accept owing to engagement Washington 22d instant, already made, and which cannot now be deferred. The subject of your conference is of supreme importance, and I am exceedingly glad to know of the attention which your energetic body is giving the matter. W. W. FINLEY."

THREATENED BY "BIG STICK" AUTOISTS RUSH FOR NUMBERS

Secretary of State Phil Cook more than has his hands full these days issuing automobile licenses to delinquent auto owners who failed to send in their applications until the secretary figuratively took out his big stick a few days ago.

As soon as the law became effective on September 1 Secretary Cook proceeded to secure 10,000 number plates, which he thought would be sufficient to tag every automobile in the state. For a time it appeared that the number was more than enough, for only about 3,000 owners came across with the necessary $2 for the state license. Then, when business began to lag, the secretary of state got busy, and in very plain English he stated that he believed there were fully 10,000 automobiles being operated in the state of Georgia and that it was the duty of the police to hale every auto owner into court who did not carry the proper number plate on his machine.

Then came the deluge.

Monday Secretary Cook received 180 applications for licenses. Tuesday he received almost a hundred, and with every mail bringing them in by the dozen, the office of the secretary of state has been about the busiest place around the state capitol for the past few days. There are now nearly 5,000 automobiles registered under the new law.
